WILSON TO DEMAND CHANGE IN MEXICO

Decides to Serve Notice That ConditionsHaveBecome Intolerable

TO ISSUE STATEMENT

Officials Deny That Recognition of Any Faction Is Now Contemplated

REVIVE INTERVENTION TALK

WASHINGTON, May 28.—President Wilson has decided to serve notice on all the warring factions in Mexico that conditions in that country have become intolerable and that unless they, themselves compose the situation soon, some other means may have to be employed to accomplish the result.

The first intimation of the president's determination to take this step came today in his appeal issued as head of the American Red Cross, setting forth that "due to several years of internal disturbances the unfortunate people of many parts of Mexico have been reduced to the verge of starvation and urging contributions to relief funds."

To Give Out Statement.

Later the white house gave out the following: "When the president's appeal for aid for the Mexicans was issued, it was also stated at the executive offices that a statement from the president on the present situation in Mexico might be expected within the next few days."

This statement has been prepared and will be issued after the cabinet meeting next Tuesday and then communicated to the leaders of all the Mexican factions.

Officials at the white house and state department declined to say what the president's statement contained, but denied that recognition of any faction was now contemplated. It was stated authoritatively that while friends of Carranza here had been pressing for recognition the Washington government had not been impressed with the ability of any of the contending chiefs to restore order. The present action, it was said, was not intended to assist one faction at the expense of another but to demand in effect that the Mexicans arrive at an early settlement of their troubles or at least provide for the susitinence of the starving population.

Would Place Responsibility.

High officials referred to the president's forthcoming pronouncement as not meaning immediate intervention and they emphasized the word "immediate." The impression in executive quarters was that one purpose would be to place responsibility for the present state of affairs squarely upon the military elements in the southern republic which have overrun the country and appointed its food supply or prevented the tilling of the soil. While anxious to continue the policy of allowing the Mexicans to settle their differences without outside interference, the president is said to be determined that the civilian population of the country shall not be starved in the meantime.

Talk of intervention, which has been dormant ever since the European war diverted attention from the situation nearer home, was immediately revived the day's events as the forerunner of a new policy through intervention was an inevitable outcome of the situation and that the United States was paving the way for such action by notifying the world of its purpose to take the step for the sake of humanity. They pointed out that a similar utterance had preceded intervention in Cuba in 1898. For the present it is understood the notification to all the Mexican factions of the intolerable state of affairs and the desire of the American government for a betterment of conditions will be allowed to stand without explanation while the relief work of the American Red Cross is undertaken in earnest. The belief was widespread in official and diplomatic circles tonight that an immediate effect of the forthcoming statement will be to give warring that relief supplies must not be reported by the military factions and that they must assist in feeding the starving populace.

ENGINEERS GO ON RECORD AS FAVORING INTERNATIONAL PEACE

CLEVELAND, O., May 28.—The Brotherhod of Locomotive Engineers triennial convention went on record today as favoring "international peace between nations and the reduction of their armaments to the basis of an international police force only."

Officers elected were:

Frank E. Wood, New Orleans, first grand assistant engineer; J. Currie, Jersey City, second assistant grand engineer; G. W. Phillips, Abottsford, Wis., grand guide.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen entertained the delegates with a smoker tonight.

STORM STOPS RAILROAD TRAFFIC OUT OF PEORIA

APPROXIMATELY FOUR INCHES OF RAIN FALLS WITHIN THREE HOURS

Swollen Creeks in East Peoria Cause Many Families to Seek Higher Ground—Rain Had About Ceased at Midnight.

Peoria, Ill., May 28.—Approximately four inches of rain has fallen in territory surrounding Peoria within the last three hours. The storm broke at six o'clock tonight and at ten o'clock tonight there had been no interruption in the downfall.

Tracks is Washed Out.

Railroad officials stated that there would be no trains run out of Peoria tonight. A mile of track on the Rock Island on the Peoria-Chicago line is reported washed away near Mossville, ten miles north of here. No trains are running on the Peoria & Pekin Union tracks between Peoria and Pekin which cuts off all train service in and out of Peoria over the Big Four, Lake Erie and Western, Illinois Central, Chicago & Alton (Springfield division) and the Peoria & Pekin suburban trains. Over a mile of track is reported washed out on the new Northwestern line running south from Peoria. The Burlington, Iowa Central and Minneapolis and St. Louis, running south and west of the city have suffered heavily in south Peoria and train service is temporarily cut off.

Creeks in East Peoria which are usually small streams are tonight raging torrents and a hundred families have been forced to move to higher ground.

Receive Many Calls for Help.

At midnight the rain had about ceased. Calls for help came in from many in the lowlands. In Rry Run, near Bradley Park scores of residents were forced to flee from their homes. Rescurers with boats are taking the people from the roofs of buildings and from trees.

Torrents of water poured down on Averyville from Grandview Drive. The damage to this highway will amount to thousands of dollars.

The tracks of the Peoria Terminal railway between Peoria and Pekin are under water for a stretch of three miles in the vicinity of Bartonville. Cars stopped operating early tonight. One bridge at the Keystone plant has been forced far out of the line. The water is ten feet deep in places.

WOULD HAVE BUSINESS MEN VISIT SOUTH AND CENTRAL AMERICA

Financial Conference Takes Another Step to Improve Business and Financial Relations With the Americas.

Washington, May 28—Another step toward the improvement of business and financial relations between the Americas was taken at the Pan-American financial conference late today when delegates from the southern republics unanimously approved a resolution calling upon the business and commercial interests of the United States to unite within the next six months in naming a delegation to visit all the South and Central American countries. Members of this delegation the resolution proposed shall be the guests of the various nations and be received by the governments by chambers of commerce and industrial organizations. Diplomatic representatives of the southern republics accredited to the United States will be asked to aid in formulating arrangements for the trip. The plan was proposed by Minister Pena of Uruguay.

Adoption of the resolution and a report from the committee on uniform laws for all American nations marked today's general session. The committee on uniform laws suggested a high commission of nine members from each country to consider uniformity in statutes relating to many subjects which vitally concern business and commercial intercourse betwene the republics.

Representatives Flood, chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs, and Secretary Garrison of the war department, were two of the speakers of the day.

"I believe that the congress of the United States", said Mr. Flood, "will do all in its power to carry out the results of the deliberations of this conference. The leadership of the future rests on the Americas. The world will be blessed with that leadership."

STATES AMERICAN PRESS IS IMPATIENT ABOUT DELAY IN REPLY

LONDON, May 28.—(3:05 p. m.)—A wireless despatch received from Berlin today gives what purports to be a telegram sent to Count VonBernstorff, German ambassador at Washington, to the foreign office in Berlin. The telegram, as thus given, says that the American press is "getting impatient about the delay in the answer to the American note" and states that the tension has been increased by he sinking of the Nebraskan, which is not yet explained.

In another telegram to the foreign office Count VonBernstorff is quoted as saying that American packers and cotton exporters are urging Washington to take energetic measures against England, adding that "unofficial negotiations between state department advisers and the British embassy have been broken off."

MUCH SPECULATION ATTENDS DELAY

Reports from London Insist Steamer Nebraskan Was Torpedoed

AVOID ANY COMMENT

Reports Intimate Germany Will Delay Discussion of Merits of Lusitania Case

GERMAN CONFIRMS REPORT

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The passing of two weeks with no reply from the German government to the noet from the United States concerning violations of American rights in the war zone has caused widespread speculation in official and diplomatic quarters. Two circumstances contributed to the development today of urther tension in an already delicate situation—the insistence of reports from London that the American steamer Nebraskan was torpedoed instead of mined and published intimations that Germany would send a series of notes in answer to the American communication delaying a discussion of the merits of the question until there was an agreement on facts. While high officials scrupulously avoided comment, it was evident that they were loath to believe the German government had under-estimated the intense feeling of the American people on the Lusitania disaster with the loss of more than 100 American lives or would seek to delay the reparation demanded by the United States.

Bernstorff Confirms Reports.

Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, confirmed the London reports that he had sent wireless messages to the German foreign office declaring the American press was becoming impatient over the delay in sending the German reply and that the Nebraskan incident had aggravated the situation. It was explained at the embassy that the ambassador was not expressing his own opinion in these messages but merely keeping his government informed as usual on the of public opinion in the United States.

Berlin press despatches saying that Ambassador Gerard had been in daily conference with German foreign officials and therefore had probably sent in advance the main points to be contained in the German reply, were shown to Secretary Bryan tonight. He said that while the ambassador had sent his own conjectures, nothing that could be called an outline had been received and that he was not aware that any official information had been given as to the contents of the reply.

Would Send Counter Proposal.

The general trend of comment in official and diplomatic quarters was that if the preliminary note from Germany proposed an agreement on the facts of various cases mentioned in the American note, there would follow immediately a counter proposal from President Wilson for a suspension of submarine warfare which might endanger American lives or vessels while the diplomatic discussion was in progress.

The German government, according to published reports, is represented as intending to inquire first whether the Lusitiana was armed or unarmed and whether she carried munitions of war. The position of the United States government is that the Lusitania sailed unarmed from an American port and did not resist capture. Whether or not the vessel carried contraband of any character did not, in the American view, deprive her of the right under the rules of international law, universally acknowledged, to be given an opportunity to transfer crew and passengers to a place of safety before being destroyed.

Lusitania Carried No Guns.

Officials pointed out, moreover, that the British liner by careful investigation before sailing was found to be unarmed and that there was no denial here of the fact that she carried munitions of war. This was shown on her manifest published the day of sailing. Collector Dudley Field Malone of the port of New York who was in Washington tonight for conference with President Wilson on what were described as personal matters, explained that his assistants had made a thorough investigation of the Lusitania and that she had no guns aboard either mounted or dismounted.

Officials still were non-committal today about the explosion aboard the American Steamer Nebraskan.

Ambassador Page cabled that he expected affidavits from the captain and crew of the Nebraskan but did not reveal their nature. As yet the Washington government does not know positively whether a mine or torpedo caused the explosion.

War News Summarized

The Austro-Germans and the Russians continue to wage sanguinary warfare in Galicia, with the Teutons seemingly pressing more closely toward the fortress of Przemysl despite the strenuous efforts of the Muscovites to hold them back.

The Teutons are declared to have driven their lines so far in this direction that their forces are now only a short distance from Przemysl—six miles east of the San and fourteen miles northeast of the fortress.

Elsewhere in the Galician district, stubborn combats are in progress with both sides claiming successes at various points and with the Russians admitting losses near Radymno and Gousskow.

Progress for the British troops toward LaBassee and gains for the French near Ecurie and in Alsace are reported by Paris. Along the remainder of the western front the Germans are either delivering furious counter-attacks, which it is declared are being held, or engaging in artillery duels with the allies.

The Italians continue to report gains of Austrian territory at various points near the Austro-Italian frontier but no battle of any great importance has been chronicled.

Both infantry and artillery engagements and bombardments of Turkish positions by allied warships are in progress in the region of the Dardanelles but according to a Constantinople despatch the fire by the land forces is feeble.

FRANK IS SUBPOENED AS WITNESS IN DAMAGE SUIT

Mother of Mary Phagan Sues National Pencil Factory for $10,000—Conley is Also Called on to Testify.

Atlanta, Ga., May 28.—Leo M. Frank, under sentence of death for the murder of Mary Phagan and James Conley, a negro, who is serving twelve month's imprisonment as an accessory to the crim, were subpoenaed today as witnesses in the $10,000 damage suit of the Phagan girl's mother, Mrs. J. W. Coleman, against the National Pencil factory. They were cited to appear before a commissioner next Wednesday and counsel for the plaintiff will seek to establish by them that the girl was killed in the factory.

While Frank is testifying before the commissioner the state prison commission is expected to be hearing his petition for commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment.

United Staes Senator John W. Kern of Indiana today telegraphed to the state prison commission asking clemency for Frank. The telegram stated.

"I have followed proceedings in the Frank case step by step with great and increasing interest and as a lawyer with forty years experience, I beg you to spare this man's life. He will die a martyr in the estimation of millions of American citizens if you permit him to be executed. I have an abiding opinion that the great hearted Georgians of your board will be guided by sentiments of humanity as well as justice and will give this unfotunate creature the benefits of doubts which must fill the minds of all impartial men.

"John W. Kern,
"Washington, D. C."

RECEIVEMANY MORE LETTERS URGING CLEMENCY FOR FRANK

Mississippi Executive Advises Governor Slaten to "Take the Safe Course and the One Dictated by Humanity."

Atlanta, Ga., May 28.—Many additional letters urging executive clemency for Leo M. Frank, were received today at the offices of Governor Slaton. Among them was one from Governor Brewer of Mississippi expressing belief in Frank's innocence and advising Governor Slaton to "take the safe course and the one dictated by humanity."

John A. Boykin, a prominent Atlanta lawyer, wrote the prison commission that the late Judge Roan who presided at Frank's trial had expressed to him grave doubt as to Frank's guilt.

"I know Judge Roan received threatening letters during Frank's trial and while his motion for a new trial was pending," Mr. Boykin wrote, "and from conversations I had with the judge I believe these letters intimidated him."

Other letters in Frank's behalf were received from Senators Williams, Mississippi; McLean, Connecticut; Lewis, Illinois; and Broussard, Louisiana; Congressmen Hill, Connecticut; Coleman, Pennsylvania, Elston, California and Clyne, Indiana; Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago; Mayor James H. Preston, Baltimore and David R. Forgan, Chicago banker.

GIVES PONTIFICIAL PALACE FOR HOSPITAL

Rome, via Paris, May 28.—(11:20 p. m.)—Pope Benedict, it was announced today, has given the Pontifical palace, Castel Gandolfo, in the Alban Hills, to be used as a hospital.

WILL ATTEMPT TO INVALIDATE BILL

Rainey to Initiate Court Action Against Dunne's Waterway Measure

ATTACK BILL'S LEGALITY

Opponents Contend Bill Is Unconstitutional Becauselt Does Not Provide Referendum Vote

LUCEY HOLDS BILL IS LEGAL

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 28.—On the ground that the measure is unconstitutional becouse it does not provide for its submission to a referendum vote, court action will be brought to invalidate Governor Dunne's waterway measure, which was passed by the state senate yesterday and which will become effective on July 1st.

Announcement to this effect was made here today by Representative William A. Hubbard of Greene county, who fought the passage of the bill in the house. Mr. Hubbard stated that Congressman Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton will initiate the court action and that he will be joined by Representative John Turnbaugh of Carroll county and others.

Constitution Provides Referendum.

The constitution provides that expenditures of more than $250,000 shall be submitted to a referendum vote of the people. No provision was made in the waterway bill for a referendum. Administration leaders stated that the people in 1908 had ratified a bond issue of $20,000,000 for a deep waterway over the same course as that provided in the Dunne bill. They contended that the expenditure of the $5,000,000 provided for in the Dunne bill was covered by the 1908 referendum.

Congressman Rainey and Representative Turnbaugh contend, however, that the 1908 referendum was for money to be expended on a deep waterway and that the eight foot channel provided for in the Dunne bill is in no sense of the word a deep waterway. In an opinion to Governor Dunne, Attorney General Lucey held that the governor's bill was constitutional.

The court action probably will not be instigated until after July 1st, when the bill goes into effect. Governor Dunne has announced that he hopes to have actual work on the waterway begun not later than August 1st.

Bills Introduced in House.

Among the bills introduced in the house today were the following:

Providing a fine not to exceed $200 for owner or agent knowingly leasing any property to be used for purpose of lewdness; for one year imprisonment for person maintaining such a place and $200 fine or one year imprisonment or both for inmates and $200 fine for patron of such place. Advanced to second reading.

Giving to city councils and boards of trustees in villages power to license and regulate places where chop suey, ice cream, drinks, fruits and refreshments of any kind are sold.

Giving county superintendent power to detach territory from any district in which a high school has been established and add some to another, on petition of a majority of voters.

Making it the duty of railroads to provide first medical aid to injured passengers and employes.

Regulating the size of railroad cabooses.

Making mandatory the returning to township assessors a statement by owner of the number of dogs kept by him and making it lawful to kill any dog found running at large on premises of another.

RADIO REPORTS STATE MACKINAW IS ON FIRE OFF POINT REYES

United States Coast Guard Cutter Prepares to Go to Her Assistance—Ship is Being Towed Into the Harbor.

San Francisco, May 28.—At midnight no word has been received for hours regarding the freight steamer Mackinaw which late today was reported on fire off Point Reyes, near San Francisco. A seventy-mile gale was blowing up mountainous seas and it was feared here that the vessel, probaly without steam was in grave peril. Her crew of forty consists almost entirely of Chinese Coolies.

San Francisco, Cal., May 28— A radio report received here tonight said the Mackinaw was on fire off Point Reyes, thirty miles north of San Francisco. The United States coast guard cutter McCulloch is preparing to go to her assistance. The Makinaw sailed from this port late today for Portland, Ore.

The Mackinaw, formerly the British Crown, is owned by the Atlantic Transportation company, Ltd. Her port is Liverpool. The Mackinaw was built at Belfast in 1891 and her net tonnage is 2,050.

THREE PLEAD GUILTY TO CHARGES OF FRAUD

ADMIT CONCEALING RUBBER WITHIN RESIN AND COTTON

Two are Fined $500 Each and One $300—Confess That Their Purpose was to Circumvent Allies and Believed They Were Performing a Patriotic Duty.

New York, May 28.—Pleas of guilty were entered in the federal court late today by Franz Rosenberg, Sigmund Karman and Albert B. Newman to indictments charging them with having defrauded the United States by filing false manifests at the custom house in connection with an alleged effort to get contraband of war to belligerents by concealing rubber within resin and cotton waste. The first two were fined $500 each and Newman $300.

By pleading guilty Rosenberg, a rubber merchant of Hanover, Germany; Karman of Budapest, Hungary and Newman, Karman's nephew a tailor who for months was a merchant with offices here admittedly had concealed $50,000 worth of contraband rubber in 278 barrels manifested as resin which they had forwarded to Naples, Italy aboard the Cunard liner Carpathia and had attempted to ship thirty tons more concealed in bales of cotton waste aboard the White Star Liner Cretic.

The three men furhter admitted that their purpose was to circumvent the allies and by so doing they believed they were performing a patriotic duty.

They claimed they did not know by presenting false manifests they were violating the customs laws.

Harry S. Salomon, a German reservist, and Albert Salomon are cousins and members of Salomon Bros., & Co., large importers and exporters here.

WITHOUT NEWS CONCERNING REPORTED TORPEDOING OF SHIP

Germans Deprecate Discussion of Possible Effect on Negotiations Pending Confirmation of Attack on Nebraskan.

Berlin, via London, May 28—(11:40 p. m.)—The foreign office and the admiralty are still without news concerning the reported torpedoing of the American Steamship Nebraskan and deprecate all discussion of possible effect on German-American negotiations pending an authoritative confirmation of an attack on the ship. German newspapers have printed nothing about the Nebraskan incident since the first Rotterdam dispatches reporting that the ship had been torpedoed, that she was still afloat with the crew safe in her life boats.

The torpedoing of the steamship Gulflight is now established as due to a German submarine, the report of the commander of the submarine in question having been received by the admiralty. The commander stated that when he first saw the Gulflight she was being convoyed by two patrol boats and he concluded that she must be a British vessel or was carrying contraband. The presence of the patrol boats, the commander reported, made closer investigation dangerous.

TALAAT BEY STATES TURKEY WILL NOT DECLARE WAR AGAINST ITALY

Also Declares the Roumanian King and Premier Will Hold Secure the Neutrality of That Country.

Berlin, via London, May 28.—(11:10 p. m.)—Talaat Bey, Turkish minister of the interior in an interview with the Constantinople correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt declared that Turkey would not declare war against Italy.

"We will not declare war on Italy," Talaat Bey said. "We can wait. What can Italy do to us?"

The Turkish minister of war told the same correspondent that all preparations had been made long ago and there would be no surprises. It is true, he said that long before the declaration of war Italy had collected a strong force at Rhodes Island but Turkey knew some days ago that transports had been going back to Italy.

In the course of his interview with the correspondent Talaat Bey said that the Roumanian king and premier would sold secure the neutrality of that country while Bulgaria could gain nothing by joining the allies. The territory near Adrianople did not attract Bulgaria, Talaat Bey said and as Bulgarians know that they will never get Constantinople they prefer to see the Turks hold that city rather than Russians or English.

ARCHDUKE EUGENE TO COMMAND AUSTRIANS

Copenhagen, via London, May 29.—(4:15 a. m.)—A despatch from Berlin states that Archduke Eugene of Austria has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Austrian forces operating against Italy. He has been chief of staff of the army engaged against Serbia and is highly popular with the rank and ile.

SINK AUSTRIAN SUBMARINE.

Rome, via Paris, May 28.—(11:10 p. m.)—It is officially announced that an Austrian submarine boat was sunk by Italian torpedo boats in an engagement yesterday.

GERMAN U BOATS SINK THREE SHIPS

Success of Divers Brings Officials to a Realization of Danger

FIRE ON BIG LINER

Argyllshire Is Chased By an Under Sea Boat, But Escapes and Reaches Havre Safely

ITALIANS BOMBARD BEDRUM

LONDON, May 28—(10:40 p. m.)—The success of the German submarines in their attacks on the British fleet supporting the army on the Gallipoli Peninsula, which has resulted in the sinking of the battleships Triumph and Majestic, and the ever increasing activity of these boats in the waters around the British Isles and the threat to carry this underwater warfare to the Suez canal and the trade which passes through that waterway, while they have not caused any great uneasiness in naval circles here, have brought the officials to a realization of the great danger that will exist if Germany is able largely to increase her fleet of U boats.

Three Ships Are Sunk.

Today came reports of the sinking of the British Steamers Cadeby and Spennymoor and the Swedish bark M. Roosvall and a statement that the big liner Argyllshire was chased and fired upon by an under sea boat but succeeded in escaping and reaching Havre.

Trade to and from British ports goes on as if there were no submarine danger and it is stated that there will be no interruption in the operations in the Dardanelles.

The fleet there will have to assist the army on the Gallipoli peninsula, taking chances of destruction by submarines and mines or shell fire.

The spirit of British merchantmen was indicated today in the reply of a sailor to Lord Mersey's question at the inquiry into the sinking of the steamer Falaba by a German submarine some time ago. Asked whether he would go to sea again the sailor promptly replied "yes".

Italians Bombard Bedrum.

The Turks and their German officers probably will have another invasion to meet before long. Unofficial reports reaching here today are that the Italians have landed on the island of Rhodes, off the coast of Asia Minor, while a cruiser has been bombarding Bedrum, which is on the Gulf of Kos on the mainland of Asiatic Turkey, not far from Rhodes. This is believed to be the first step in an attempt to land on the Asia Minor coast.

There has been little or no change in the situation on the eastern or western battle fronts. The Austrians and Germans claim to have made a further advance in their operations, the aim of which is the encircling of Przeymsl, although they are meeting with very stubborn resistance on the part of the Russians. In the west the French offensive north of Arras is still in progress but the advance by the allied troops seemingly is not so fast as it was when the attack was first launched. The British also are engaged north of LaBassee and are almost continuously occupied in resisting German attacks around Ypres, the attempt to capture which place is said to have cost the Teutons an enormous number of men.

The Italians claim to have made further advances into Austrian territory in Tyrol, the Trentino and Istria, but no important battle has yet been fought in this southwestern theatre of the war.

ATTACK IS REPULSED.

Havre, May 29—(1 a. m.)—An official Belgian statement issued on May 27th states: "An infantry attack made against a bridge head defended by one of our divisions, was repulsed. During the night and day the enemy's artillery bombarded the ground behind the Yser toward Oustkerke and Caeskerke."

Women In The News

Atlantic City, N. J.—Maids and matrons who would be in the fashion this summer must remodel the bathing costumes of a year ago. Following the present vogue for both street and evening gowns, skirts of bathing garb are to be exceedingly full. Some of the bathing costumes here contain two or three times as much material as the form-fitting skirts of last summer. The latest bathing costumes also have pockets. Satin will be the most popular fabric for bathing suits this season.

Versailles, Ky. — Miss Matilda James of Paris, Ky., will be crowned Queen of the May in the annual fete at Margaret College on Saturday. Martha Shelby of Danville and Sarah Puryear Edwards of this town were chosen maids of honor. The commencement exercises will begin next Tuesday.

Devon, Pa.—The full staff of ladies who are to act as judges on Monday at the big Devon horse show has been selected. Mrs. Bessie Dobson Altemus of Philadelphia heads the judges of ponies and Mrs. Charles A. Munn, Jr., of Radnor, with Mrs. Charles Randolph Snowden of Bryn Mawr, will judge the polo ponies. Miss Helen DuPont of Delaware heads the judges on saddle horses. Mrs. Richard P. McGrann with two other ladies, will judge the harness horses. The hunters and jumpers will be judged by Mrs. William L. Hirst of Haverford and her committee. The veterinary inspector of the day will be Miss Ethel Moore of Colorado Springs, Colo.

St. Louis.—An unusual religious demonstration will take place in the new St. Louis Cathedral on Sunday, when some 5,000 Catholic young women will join in "an act of reparation to the Blessed Virgin for her desecrated and deserted shrines in the countries at war." No attempt will be made for a procession, but the Catholic women will fill the big cathedral for the special service. Archbishop Glennon will be a speaker.

Philadelphia. ——A group of 100 Philadelphia girls, known as the Rising Sun Committee, has promised to raise $10,000 within a year to establish a children's ward in St. Luke's hospital at Tokio, Japan. The girls will hold a Japanese fete tonight as the opening of their campaign.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—Martha Cook residence hall for women at the University of Michigan will be completed this summer. It promises to be one of the finest dormitories for women in America, costing approximately $350,000. It is the gift of the Cook family of Hilldale, Mich., six members of which have attended the university.

Washington.— Frequent reports are reaching the girlhood friends of the former Leiter girls, Miss Daisy and Miss Nannie, showing that they are both standing loyally by their husbands in their war troubles and aiding materially in relief work. The former Daisy Leiter is Lady Margaret, Countess of Suffolk and Berkshire. During the winter she joined her husband in India, where he is serving as the colonel of a Gloucestershire regiment. Before going to India she turned over to the government the family mansion at Charlton Park, where she had installed hospital cots and two surgeons at the expense of her own purse. Mrs. Colin Campbell, formerly Miss Nannie Leiter, was not far behind her younger sister in her notable war work, nor in devotion to her husband's cause. She followed her husband to France while his regiment was fighting on the frontier. The wounded members of her husband's regiment are being cared for at the Campbell's Wiltshire place. The Campbell seashore home at Port Regis has also been placed at the disposal of the government as a convalescent home.

JACKSONVILLE STORES TO CLOSE MONDAY AT NOON

Accoring to the closing agreement entered into last fall by the merchants of Jacksonville, secretary Weber of the Chamber of Commerce announces the following stores will close Monday, May 31, at noon:

Barbers.
Bakers.
Clothing.
Dry Goods.
Furniture.
Grocers.
Hardware.
Jewelers.
Meat markets.
Millinery.
Shoes.

The banks will remain closed all day in recognition of a national holiday.

WOMAN'S COLLEGE EVENTS.

The art exhibit at the Woman's College will open today to the public from ten to five in music hall and will continue Monday. The dramatic club will give "Sherwood" this evening at eight o'clock. The baccalaureate services will be held at Grace M. E. church Sunday morning. The sermon will be by Dr. T. N. Ewing, pastor of the First M. E. church of Springfield. The faculty and students will meet at the college at ten for the procession to march to the church. The trustees, alumnae, former students and visiting friends will join them at the church and seats will be reserved for them.

JITNEY BUS IS HIT IN $5,000 SUIT

The Springfield jitney bus has become entangled in the meshes of the law, says the Springfield Journal.

A $5,000 suit in trespass was filed in the circuit court Thursday against Henry Hammond, who plies on Fifth street, alleging discrimination in refusing to carry colored people and against the city of Springfield for permitting "discrimination" busses to operate.

This, the first suit of its kind in central Illinois was filed by Fred May, who was denied a jitney bus ride on May 11, 1915. He complains that he attempted to enter Hammond's machine at Fifth and Monroe streets when the driver told him that he "did not and would not convey colored passengers."

F. W. BLATCHFORD

Among the long time, staunch friends of Illinois college was the late E. W. Blatchford of Chicago. The gentleman was a member of the directors board of the John Crerar library and that body recently passed highly complimentary resolutions regarding the gentleman. He was chairman of the board of administration and president of the Newberry library and as such occupied positions of great importance and which gave him a wide experience.

He was born May 31, 1826 and attended Lansingburg academy, New York; Marion college, Missouri and finally Illinois college at Jacksonville and was a member of the class of 1845 .He began the work of a lawyer in New York but failing health induced him to seek the west and he went to St. Louis and for a time was associated with Morris Collins who afterward moved to this city to end his days.

Mr. Blatchford went to Chicago to manage a branch there and finally became sole owner and did a large business in the manufacture of lead pipe, sheet lead, shot and kindred articles.

Mr. Blatchford married Miss Mary E. Williams, a member of an old and honored family of Chicago and was the father of seven children. His home life was beautiful while he was member of several important clubs, was prominent in the Congregational church, a leader in the work of foreign missions, and for nearly 42 years was president of the board of trustees of Chicago Theological seminary.

He was trustee of Illinois college from 1866 to 1875 and was prominent in many other important enterprises. He was intensely patriotic and during the civil war stood boldly for the union and did all that was in him for the righteous cause.

A BRAVE SOLDIER LAID TO REST WITH HONORS

Beautiful Tribute to the Life and Character of Joseph B. Williamson at First Baptist Church.

Although the weather was so very unpropitious the auditorium of First Baptist church was well filled Friday afternoon on the occasion of the funeral of the late Jos. B. Williamson. The casket was covered with the flag under which he had bravely fought while the front of the pulpit was a mass of flowers and wreaths sent by loving and appreciative friends. Large numbers of the Odd Fellows and veterans were present.

Mrs. Lucy Kolp presided at the organ and beautifully rendered a prelude and then Misses Hazel Belle Long and Carrie Spires and William Kirby impressively sand that impressive song, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." The pastor, Rev. Percy W. Stephens, then read suitable portions of scripture, parts of the first Psalm, something from the Gospels, the 7th and 21st chapters of Revelation and offered prayer.

The discourse that followed was a worthy tribute to the deceased and a few portions are given.

"If I were to pass down the streets and go to different men and ask them what constitutes success in life the answers I would receive would be varied. The banker would say, the man who begins with small means and accumulates till he has an ample fortune measured, possibly by millions. The politician would say, the man who studied the various social conditions and problems of the day and won the confidence of his fellowmen so that he would be intrusted by them with the offices of governor, senator and finally president of the United States. Ask the military man and he would say the man who studies carefully the science of war, knows his tactics and successfully leads his command in time of battle.

"And now let us ask the great Apostle Paul as he is chained to a soldier and has passed through all manner of vicissitudes; had been great among the Jews and had enjoyed high honors and what does he say?

"'For me to live in Christ and to die is gain.'

"And now we turn to the life of our Brother Williamson and there we find that his idea of success is like that of Paul. I have found a beautiful New Year prayer in his Bible and in the petition he asks for that which will make him better fitted to love and serve the Master. And see his life and how he lived. He was not a college graduate yet he was a great student and the word of God was his chief study. He was constant at prayer meeting and spoke so well that many were constrained to ask, 'How knoweth this man letters having never learned?' I found also in his Bible a slip of paper with these words, 'In this changing world the word of God abideth forever.' Probably this church had no more faithful member than our brother. For years he was superintendent of the Sunday schol of Mt. Emory church and did much for the welfare and progress of the colored race. At his own Sunday schol he was regular and often when not at all well he would be up early and his his knees would seek Divine aid in preparing his lesson and for the Bible class he was a faithful teacher. He served Christ and Christ only and that made his life what it was.

"When Henry Ward Beacher was reminded that he didn't look at all well he replied that he didn't want to live always. To die means for the Christian relief from bodily ills. We read of Abraham leaving his home and friends and going by faith to a far country for he trusted in God.

"A skeptic once asked a minister if the latter had a spirit. The minister said no. The skeptic said he had hoped to trap the preacher but the latter replied that he was a spirit and had a body. Drummond tells of a young lady whose life was especially sweet and beautiful and many used to ask the secret of it. When she died they found in a locket which she wore suspended from her neck the words. "Whom not having seen we love." Our brother loved Christ and now sees Him for Himself.

"When Tennyson was about to die he was asked if he believed in the immortality of the soul and he was reminded that his writings did not contain anything on that subject and next day he handed his friend the beautiful verses: "Crossing the Bar." The question was answered. Our brother too has crossed the bar and may we who survive so live that when the end comes we too may cross the bar to meet him."

Misses Spires and Long then most sweetly sang a beautiful hymn, "When they ring those golden bells." A selection used also at the funeral of Brother Williamson's sister a few years ago.

The body was then reverently borne to its last resting place in Diamond Grove cemetery by H. H. Bancroft, Charles Hopper, J. P. Brown, Joseph Jackson, Dr. Henley and Joseph Smith.

The many beautiful flowers were cared for by Mrs. Josephine Shreve, Miss Helen Shreve, Mrs. Albert Cox and Miss Ethel Reese.

DID NOT UNDERGO AN OPERATION

In the account of the death of Mrs. Lee Mason in Friday morning's Journal it stated that death was caused by an operation performed two weeks ago at Dr. Day's hospital. The Journal was misinformed of the matter as Mrs. Mason entered the hospital May 17 suffering from a fatal disease—not of a surgical nature, which caused her death.

NO GRADUATING EXERCISES AT CHAPIN HIGH SCHOOL

Extension of Course to Four Years is Reason for Omitting Commencement—Those Who Will Receive Diplomas.

Owing to the fact that the Chapin high school had graduating exercises lost year when the class had completed the three year course and the farther fact that the course has been extended to four years and the pupils have come back to complete the new course there will be no commencement exercises this year in the Chapin schools. Friday evening, June 4th, in the M. P. church the high school will have a program and receive their diplomas.

The following will be the order of exercises:

Invocation—Rev. Mr. Hardaway.
Reading—Miss Allene Omer.
Quartet—Misses Isabel Fox and Josephine Taylor; Messrs. Bernard Allen and William Onken.
Class Prophecy—member of senior class.
Violin solo—Arthur Perbir.
Reading—Addie Fox.
Class Will—Member of senior class.
Vocal solo—Bernard Allen.
Presenting of diplomas by president of school board.

Wednesday evening, June second, the eighth grade, Miss Pearl Wild, teacher, will present their class play "Uncle Ephriam's Summer Boarders" after which the class, numbering fifteen members, will receive their certificates of promotion to the high school.

SUNSHINE LARKIN CLUB HAS REGULAR MEETING.

All members were present at the regular gathering of the Sunshine Lakin club Friday afternoon, and though the weather was bad, a more successful meeting could not have been wished. The ladieh met with Mrs. Clinton Howard, northwest of the city, and the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Emma Johnson. Mrs. Henry Robinson gave an excellent reading, "Helping the Editor." In the contests prizes were won by Mrs. Blimling and Mrs. W. A. Davidson. Refreshments were served of more than ordinary quality and all were highly pleased with the efforts put forth by the hostess in the entertainment of her guests.

Mrs. Catharine Patterson of Alexander called on some of her city friends yesterday.

The First Butcher

In days of old, when Knight's were bold:
And eggs were high—so we've been told:
A Butcher Man of fearless mein,
Besought the King, in hope to gain
Favor expressed in Royal decree,
That would permit him to start a meat-eree.
The King, impressed by his appeal,
Said yes—and ordered a roast of veal.
And this you see—so the story ran.
Was the beginning of Your Butcher Man.

RAINY WEATHER CONTINUES.

An inch and a half of rain fell in the big shower early Friday afternoon and there seems little prospect for a letup. More water has fallen in the last week than usually falls in the month of May. A very dry March and an April with slightly less rain than usual, have been followed with a month of extraordinary precipitation.

Southwesterly winds continue and weather authorities say there will be no cessation of rainfall as long as there winds prevail. Government reports predict general rains for today and the end of the "wet spell" cannot be forseen.

George Hawk and daughter Mabel of Merritt were visitors in Jacksonville Wednesday.

Rent Houses Wanted

There has never been a time when desirable rent houses, $7.50 to $25, were scarcer at Johnston Agency than they are today. Our facilities for securing the right renter for the right house are good. Being the only agency in the city making a specialty of this business, a constant stream of applicants pours through our office. We know what is due to tenants in the way of repairs, and our tenants stay. On the other hand, we collect all rents in advance, and we do not, upon the average, lose a full month's rent upon one house a year.

Landlords—We think you will find it profitable, and save yourselves a great amount of trouble, if you will let us attend to your rentals. We have made a science of it. And we respectfully solicit your business.

PARDON BOARD ORDERS REPRIEVES FOR FIVE CONDEMNED MEXICANS

Takes Cognizance of Bryan's Request for Delay—Recommends That Men be Executed Separately and not Together.

Florence, Ariz., May 29.—After every legal recourse had failed, the mercy plea of William J. Bryan, secretary of state, which had been rejected by the state legislature, proved potent today to save the lives of the five Mexicans who were to have been hanged at the penitentiary here. At the last moment the state board of pardons and paroles, taking cognizance of Mr. Bryan's request for delay, ordered repieves of nine weeks for all the condemned men and recommended that they be executed separately and not together, as was intended.

Whether any will be executed at all depends however, on the success attending future moves in Governor George W. P. Hunt's five year struggle to abolish the death penalty in Arizona.

The condemned men had been bound and made ready for the gallows when the board of pardons and paroles made known its decision. This was expressed in a resolution adopted after a session lasting all mornig. It stated that as the secretary of state had seen fit to recommend reprieves in view of the possible effect of the executions upon American interests in northen Mexico, the board had concluded to recommend delay "out of respect due to Mr. Bryan's high and responsible office."

CHANGES IN DETAILS OF REPLY ARE STILL UNDER CONSIDERATION

Will Be in Effect an Invitation to "Define the Terms" to be Used in the Argument Before Proceeding With the Discussion.

Berlin, May 28.—via London, May 29., (4:28 a. m.)—The eve of the delivery to the United States ambassador Gerard of the German reply to the American note on the destruction of the Lusitania the exact form and phraseology the document would take, seemed unsettled and a few changes in details still were under consideration. The answer in substance will embody a proposal to the United States to defer definite consideration of Germany's submarine policy and President Wilson's demands until the two governments have had an opportunity to establish just what sort of vessel was sunk—to determine whether the Lusitania was a peaceful merchant man as assumed in the American note or an auxiliary cruiser of the British navy list, mounting concealed cannon, carrying Canadian soldiers bound for the front as well as a cargo of ammunition and war supplies as indicated by information the German government claims to have. It will be in effect an invitation to "define the terms" to be used in the argument before proceeding with the discussion. Germany believes it unnecessary to take up the questions of disavowing the sinking of the Lusitania or discontinuing submarine warfare in general until the two governments reach an agreement upon the essential facts in the case.

Germany holds that it is impossible to decide, for instance, the question whether sufficient opportunity was given passengers and crew to escape until it is determined whether the Lusitania was provided with bulkheads and boats as ordered for corresponding emergencies in peace times by the international congress for safety at sea. Another question which it is held must be decided, is whether or not ammunition and explosives carried in defiance of American laws accelerated the sinking of the ship which might have otherwise have been expected to get its boats away safely or reach the coast.

Such is in general the argument of the German government which may be expected also to display curiosity regarding the fate of the American compromise proposal to end submarine warfare and the American government's efforts to induce England to accept them.

With regard to the cases of the Cushing and the Gulflight, Germany will point out that she has disavowed repeatedly all intention of harming inoffensive neutral shipping even in the war zone and will express her complete readiness to pay compensation for "unfortunate accidents."

ARREST ITALIANS ABOUT TRENT.

Verona, Italy, May 28, via Paris, —(3:28 p. m.)—It is declared here that the Austrian authorities when they considered war inevitable arrested more than thirteen hundred persons in and about Trent, whom they considered as sympathizers with Italy and sent them to detention camps.

SALAS IS FOUND GUILTY.

New York, May 28—Jacob L. Salas was found guilty late today of conspiracy in connection with frauds in the Panama canal zone, for which he has been on trial for several days past in the federal court here. Salas was paroled pending the imposing of sentence.

ITALIANS AIMING FOR TIONE, RIVA AND ARCO.

Brescia, via Chiasso and Paris, May 28—(11:30 p. m.)—After crossing the frontier over the bridge at Caffaro, Italian troops moved against the mountains on both sides of the Chiese river aiming for Tione to the north and Riva and Arco to the east. The last two places also were threatened from the opposite bank of Lake Garda by Italian troops posted on Monte Altissimo.

ANNUAL SPRING FESTIVAL CONCERT OF CONSERVATORY

Excellent Rendition of Gounod's "Faust" by Illinois College Chorus and Conservatory Orchestra.

The annual Spring Festival Concert, given by the Illinois college chorus and the Conservatory orchestra, took place at State Street church last evening. This concert is always an event, not only in the college and conservatory, but for the music lovers of Jacksonville. "Home talent" is always interesting, aside from its artistic value.

The work presented this spring was Gounod's Opera Faust—an ambitious effort for any amateur organization. This famous opera, which has been performed countless times in every country of the world where opera is known, gives more familiar music than any other.

Mr. Kritch had charge of the baton, taking the place occupied at the midwinter concert by Mr. Munger, who assisted this time at the piano. Mr. Kritch's beat is always sure and clear, and he kept the orchestra and chorus well in hand, bringing out successfully the various effects he had in mind. The chorus, which was larger than usual, sang with even more enthusiasm and spirit than on previous occasions, and the volume and tone quality were most gratifying. Special mention must be made of the accompaniment of strings, which supported without obscuring the solo parts, and lent sonority to the ensembles. The orchestra had a difficult task indeed, and acquitted itself nobly. Mr. Munger lent an indispensible part at the piano, making it blend well with both strings and voices.

The title role of the opera was sung by Mr. Clark Shipp, who pleased so much in the Midwinter concert last February. The part of Faust is a favorite with tenors, though it presents many difficulties. It is surprising to note how well it suits the voice of Mr. Shipp, which has more of the baritone than the tenor quality. Much of the music is high, yet there was no straining to reach it, and the emotional demands of the role, which are great and varied, were met by Mr. Shipp in a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

The other soloists were all from the class of Mrs. Genevieve Clark Wilson, of the Conservatory, and she is to be congratulated on the excellence of their performance of these exigeant roles.

Misses Scheibel took the part of Marguerite. Its music lies well for her voice, and she did not fail in finding the note of pathetic innocence which accords so well with the haracter of the simple Marguerite. The first few measures accorded to her were sung with lovely tone quality, and the gaiety of the Jewel song, the sentiment of the Love Duet and the tragedy of the Final Trio were all interpreted with remarkable fidelity.

Mr. Jensen sang the role of Mephistopheles for the first time, and deserves great commendation for his spirited performance. He brought out well the sardonic quality in the music, the mockery and humor.

Mr. Pond sang Valentine's grateful, though short role. His voice had a beautiful quality, and he has gained in understanding of the musical phrase as well as enunciation and general confidence of manner.

Mr. Cochran undertook the small part alloted to Wagner, and did it so well that it was regretted by his hearers that he did not have more solo work. His voice is pleasing and well placed, and his musical nature stands him in good stead.

The stirring final trio and the majestic Apotheosis sung by the chorus, brought the evening to an end all too soon. The applause was genuinely enthusiastic throughout the concert.

MOVE TO PROTECT ROME FROM VISTS OF HOSTILE AEROPLANES

ROME, May 28.—Via Paris, (4 p. m.)—It being believed that Austrian aeroplanes may appear over Rome, special measures of protection have been adopted. In the first place a very close watch is to be kept along the Adriatic coast. Equal vigilance will be exercises on the crest of the Apennines, while nearer Rome observation posts are to be established at points of vantage. Stations for Italian aeroplanes have been established at Centocille, on the Appian way and at Lake Bracciano, about twenty-five miles from the capital. From these points aeroplanes are ready to start at a moments notive to engage airships from Austria.

MILITARY MISSIONS ARRIVE IN ROME.

Rome, May 28, via Paris—(7:15 p. m.)—French and British military missions which will remain with the Italian general staff during the war for the purpose of further military co-operation among the allies arrived in Rome today. A Russian mission is expected soon.

MODIFY QUARANTINE RESTRICTIONS.

Washington, May 28—An order further modifying restrictions of the foot and mouth disease quarantine in Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Wisconsin was signed today by Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture to become effective May 31st.

FEEL EARTHQUAKE SHOCK.

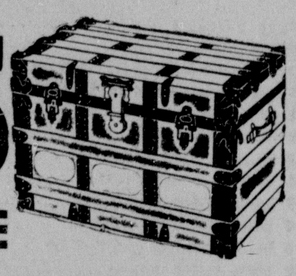

Bakersfield, Calif., May 28—An earthquake shock of brief duration at 10:55 o'clock tonight shook buildings here. So far as known no damage was done. Reports from Fresno and other towns said the shock was felt slightly but that no damage had been caused.

STATES ARTICLE IN GERMAN PAPER BREATHES DEFIANCE TO AMERICA

Declares Germany is Not Frightened by Any Threat of War on the Part of the United States.

London, May 29.—(2:35 a. m.)—The Daily Telegraph's Rotterdam correspondent says that Count Von Reventlow's organ, the Deutsches Zictung, under the caption "The American Call to German Fear," publishes an amazing article which breathes defiance to the United States in every line and declares that Germany's submarine warfare will be continued, regardless of any consideration. The article declares that Germany is not frightened by any threat of war on the part of the United States according to the correspondent and adds:

"The complete cutting off the negotiations would leave us cold. America would only be able to damage us by confiscating the trading ships left in her harbors and much other German property. Further dangerous deeds of war by America against Germany are not to be feared, because they are not possible. Also we do not forget certain interior difficulties in America. That is another side of the business."

The article is then reported to argue that it is impossible to give German submarine commanders any instructions to discriminate in their actions without nullifying the whole value of the submarine warfare England and to declare that Germany will never do that. Germany, it says, cannot be frightened by big words.

"The only German answer to the American note worthy of our empire, the article is declared to conclude, "is that the submarine war against British trade must be carried out by all means and without consideration. America may then do or not do what she likes. We neither care for her bluff nor for her deeds."

ENDORSE WILLIAMS' POLICY.

Oakland, Cal., May 28—The policy of John Skelton Williams in the conduct of the office of comptroller of the currency, was endorsed by the national association of supervisors of state banks in the closing sessions here today. Albert E. Kuolt, Wisconsin, state bank commissioner, was elected president, vice, L. J. Smith of Kentucky. Louisville, Ky. was chosen for the 1916 convention city.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

Nish, Serbia, via London, May 28.—(8:15 p. m.)—Serbian government has decided to engage forty American doctors. There are working in Serbia at present sixteen American doctors under Dr. Richard P. Strong, who also has engaged twenty-five of those who were with the American red cross mission.

Stavanger, Norway, via London, May 28.—Survivors of the crew of the Swedish bark M. Roosvall were landed here by a Dutch fishing vessel. The men report that while off Maomle, a German submarine stopped the Roosvall and examined her papers and then permitted her to proceed. Later a violent explosion occurred which killed two men on board the bark. The crew are of the belief that the explosion was caused by a torpedo fired by a submarine.

The Roosvall was timber laden and bound for Sunderland.

Constantinople, via London, May 28.—(8:25 p. m.)—At the entrance to the Dardanelles both sides continue to engage in infantry and artillery fire according to an official statement issued by the war office today which says:

"At Ari Burnu and Seddul Bahr, feeble infantry and artillery fire continues on both sides.

"On the coast of Gaba Tepeh, an enemy tug which attempted to land troops was captured.

"Our soldiers waded far out into the water and under the enemy's fire took prisoners.

"Thursday night our patrols took six soldiers, who had been landed, captured their standard and seven rifles. Today the enemy's cruisers have withdrawn from the Budrun district.

"During the night of May 24th, our troops attacked the enemy's camp near Goritza and captured five sailing vessels with provisions."

Berlin, via London, May 28.—(9:05 p. m.)—Dr. Von Betamann-Hollwey, the German imperial chancellor, in a speech in the Reichstag today, touched on Italy's entrance into the war.

"Italy," said the chancellor, "has now inscribed in the book of the world's history, in leters of blood which will never fail, her violation of faith. Nobody threatened Italy, neither Austria-Hungary nor Germany. Whether the Triple Entente was content with blasphmeny alone history will show later. Without a drop of blood flowing or the life of a single Italian being endangered, Itay could have secured the long list of concessions which I recnily read to the house—territory in Tyrol and on the Izonz as far as Italian speech is heard, satisfaction of her national aspirations in Triest, a free hand in Albania and the valuable port of Avlona.

"We left Rome in no doubt that an Italian attack on the Austro-Hungarian troops would also strike German troops. The Italian manifesto of war which conceals an uneasy conscience benind veiled phrases, does not give up any explanation of which offers were refused. They were too shy, perhaps, to say openly what was spread abroad as the pretext, that the Austrian offer came too late and could not be trusted.

"Italian statesmen have no right to measure the trustworthines of other nations in the same proportions as they measured their own loyalty to a treaty."

Austro-Hungarian Headquarters, May 28.—via London, (9:30 p. m.)—The great battle in mid-Galicia still continues in a furious offensive against the Russians north and south of Przemysl. Italy's declaration of war against Austria apparently has not affected the aggresive force of the Austrian armies.

The superiority in artillery which the Austrians established in the first stages of the war, owing to the introduction of the new Skoda six inch howitzer and the loan of a number of German eight inch batteries continues to be the determinant factor, the Russians being shelled or bayonetted out of one position after another.

The wedge which the Austro-Germans drove across the San river north of Przemysl Monday steadily eating its way deeper into the Russian front. The point reached yesterday to the villages of Chotynice and Kruszowice, six miles east of the San and fourteen miles northeast of Przemysl.

The beseigers also are steadily progressing from the south and yesterday obstinately defended the heights south of Medika, the key of the Russian position and barely eight miles east of the forts of Przemysl. Only a narrow strip twelve miles wide is now open between the two wings and this, it is believed will be closed when the heavy artillery is brought to the lips of the two wings, thus virtually completing with the investment of Przemysl.

Victorious progress for the Teutons also is reported from the right wing in the vicinity of Stry. The Russians are said to have been driven back into their last defensive positions before Stry.

WILL WRECK BUILDING.

For several months past James C. Wood, chief of the fire department has been corresponding with Frank Costello of Hobart, Okla., relative to the wrecking of the old Stephenson building on North East street. The building stands opposite the Jefferson school and is a large structure two and one-half stories in height. It has been a menace to the neighboring buildings for several years, being used as a sleeping place for tramps.

Thursday Mr. Costello was in the city and arranged for the wrecking of the building. He expects to erect a machine shop on the site which will be operated by a man by the name of Abbott.

CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

The case of Sallie Browning Orear against the Farmers Bank & Trust company, seeking to break the will of the late D. Rees Browning, occupied the attention of Judge Burton in the circuit court Friday afternoon. The case is one of unusual interest. Mrs. Orear claiming a partnership with her brother in the ownership of all the land bequeathed in his will. Mrs. Orear is represented by Bellatti, Bellatti and Moriarity, while the estate is represented by Kirby, Wilson and Brockhouse and Worthington, Reeve and Green. At the conclusion of the arguments Judge Burton asked for a copy of the bill and announced that he would take the case under advisement.

TAKES DOWNS TO CHESTER.

Sheriff Grant Graff will leave today for Chester to take Frank Downs wso was sentenced in the circuit court on the charge of manslaughter Thursday. Mrs. Graff will accompany Mr. Graff and they expect to go to McLeansboro for a visit of several days with Doc Graff and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark B. Shipp of Springfield were registered at the Dunlap Friday.

THE BOY WONDER

'Twas in a little Kansas town Jess Willard grew to man's estate; there was no booze to hold him down, so he attained a mighty weight.

There were no joints to lead astray the growing youth of stalwart frame; his eyes beheld no Great White Way, his fingers learned no foolish game. While other youths, in other lands, were plying corkscrews night and day, Jess held a pitchfork in his hands, and tinkered with the luscious hay. He worked till his suspenders burst, an honest sweat bedewed his brow, and when he entertained a thirst, he went and milked the nearest cow. He trained with no high-rolling bunch, he painted for no morning horn, and when his stomach craved a lunch, he calmly gnawed an ear of corn. The sane and simple life was his, and now he is the nation's joy; though hostile fists around him whiz, they cannot dent that Kansas boy. If in the future his desire is still to dodge all boozy tricks, the man who whips him will require an ax, a gun and a pile of bricks.

BRAVES TAKE DOUBLE BILL FROM ATHLETICS

RAISE WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIP PENNANT.

First Game is Won Notwithstanding Tyler's Wildness—Lead is Changed Three Times in the Second Contest.

Boston, May 28.—The Boston Nationals today raised the World's Championship Pennant, captured from the Philadelphia Athletics last fall and observed the occasion by winning both games of a double header from Philadelphia and moving into the first division.

The first game was won notwithstanding Tyler's wildness.

The lead changed three times in the second game which Boston won 5 to 4 only by using every element of reserve strength. The score:

"MORNING GLANCES"
(By Gosh)

If the teams in the Three Eye league and Central Association don't play a game before long, they will be broke. The rain has kept all the teams in these two leagues from playing for the past week.

The Boston Braves raised the championship flag they won from the Athletics last fall, at Boston Friday. In honor of the event they won both games of a double header. The Braves have had the wrong flag flung to the breeze until now. Ever since the season opened they have been flying the signal of distress.

The Giants torpedoed Hub Perdue for nineteen hits Friday and swamped the Cardinals. Nineteen hits is more than the Giants have been making in a whole series lately.

By standing still while Pittsburgh was losing Thursday the Whales, Chicago's representatives in the Federal league went to the top of the league. This is the second time this season that two Chicago teams in their respective leagues have been in the lead. The Sox have a good lead in the American and last week the Cubs roosted on the top rung for a brief period.

Al Demaree, a former Giant, is furnishing dope for a Philadelphia paper. Strange to say it is good dope. Al, however, is a gifted individual, as last season he broke into the ranks of the cartoonists.

It is said that the Boston Braves have been hitting the first ball pitched this year. Judging from their standing they have not been hitting either the first, second or third ball often.

PITTSBURGH DOWNS BUFFALO.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Walter C. Hagen, Open Golf Champion.

Walter C. Hagen of Rochester, N. Y., winner of the open golf championship of the United States, began his career on the links as a caddy. The match was contested at the Midlothian links, Rochester, and Hagen won the title by the narrow margin of one stroke. His opponent was Charles Evans, Jr., the noted Chicago amateur. Hagen has a fine golfing disposition and is popular with his fellow professionals. He weighs about 160 pounds and has a powerful physique. One of the strongest points of his play is his putting. He was a pupil of H. A. Christie, who formerly was professional at the Homewood Country club. This year's tournament was the second national event in which Hagen has competed. Last year at Brookline he tied with J. M. Barnes, MacDonald Smith and Louis Tellier for fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh prizes, their scores being 307.

Buck Weaver's Hobby.

Although the fans probably do not know it, baseball players are the greatest souvenir collectors in the world. Some of them gather pictures from every city they visit, some collect pipes, and one noted ball player has been a fiend for some years in collecting fancy rugs. Buck Weaver, the White Sox shortstop, whose home is at Phoenixville, Pa., is making a collection that will be the envy of men of wealth when it is completed. Money could not buy it. Weaver's hobby is discarded bats that were once used by great batsmen. Sticks that were owned and used by Ty Cobb, Lajoie, Tris Speaker, Joe Jackson and other sluggers are now resting in the Weaver collection, and others are being added whenever Buck gets the chance. Buck gets the autograph of the player who used the stick to manufacture base hits. It will make quite a collection of lumber when completed, but will be interesting to all who may view it.

Stallings Superstitious.

There is not a superstition that George Stallings, manager of the Boston Braves, does not know and believe in too. He groans if a cross eyed fan comes into the grounds, but brightens immediately upon seeing a load of empty barrels rattle by. All the bat handles must point toward the dugout, and no newspapers must be allowed to lie near the bench. But most potent of all the malignant omens are birds. Fighter that he is, Stallings has little hope of winning a game if only a bird lights on the roof of the bench. The grounds of the Boston team abound in sparrows and pigeons, and a special boy is hired to peg stones at the birds and keep them on the wing while the Braves are playing.

Princeton to Cut Shift Play.

Princeton's 1915 football season was officially opened when twenty-five candidates reported to Captain Ballin at the clubhouse on Osborne field. Keene Fitzpatrick, the trainer, and Head Field Coach Wilder Graves Penfield, 1913, took the men in charge and put them through a light drill in kicking and passing the ball. No definite information concerning the policy to be followed this fall was given out by the coaches, but radical changes are promised, including the probable elimination of the shift play, on which all Princeton formations have been based for the past few years.

Dreyfuss Stands by Gibson.

President Barney Dreyfuss stands up stanchly for Catcher George Gibson, who has recently incurred the enmity of a number of the Pittsburgh fans. He rates Gibby as one of the most earnest workers on the Pirate roster and a man who takes defeat more bitterly than most of his mates. "If we had ten Gibsons we'd be better off than we are now," said the Pittsburgh club owner.

Burkett Opposes Murnane.

Jesse Burkett, manager of the Worcester club, cut loose the other day with a blast against President Tim Murnane of the New England league. He says that the league has been let drift by its officers and declares that Murnane must get out of the New England league or he will. Burkett cites as one grievance the fact that no league umpire was on hand for two successive days recently.

CORNELL HAS GOOD CHANCE TO WIN MEET

Philadelphia, May 28.—Cornell University demonstrated on Franklin field today that he track men have the best chance of winning the annual championship of the intercollegiate association of Amateur Athletes of America. So evenly balanced is the team that Cornell was able to qualify men in all the eleven events in which eliminations and trial heats were held. No less than 18 Cornell athletes came through safely for the semi-finals and finals tomorrow.

WILL OF MRS. SUSAN BARNES FILED IN PROBATE COURT

The will of the late Susan E. E. Barnes has been filed for probate in the office of County Clerk Boruff. The original will is dated December 30, 1896 and is witnessed by Chas. A. Barnes, John A. Bellatti and H. H. Bancroft. It provides for the division of the estate into two equal parts, one going to Mrs. Harriet Godell, a sister, and the other to the heirs of William W. Sewall, a brother. The will provides that William W. Sewall during his life, shall receive the proceeds from thtis portion of the estate.

On July 27, 1909 the first codicil was made and disposes of the family heirlooms, furniture, etc. The sum of $1,000 each is given to Hattie Sewall, Rebecca Jane Center and Andrew Godell, nieces and nephew of the deceased.

The second codicil is dated May 1, 1915 and bequeathes the sum of $5,000 to Emma Broderick for many years Mrs. Barnes' companion. Mrs. Angie Sims also is given the sum of $50.

John Godell of Beardstown is named as executor of the will.

Dr. F. A. McCarty presided and called on Dr. Howard French to invoke the divine blessing. The ladies of State street church supplied the dinner and it was indeed excellent and well enjoyed and admirably served.

After all had eaten the various teams were called on for their reports and gave them as above. M. F. Dunlap rejoiced the gathering by reading three telegrams, one from Judge F. E. Baldwin of Chicago, promising $25 for each of the two years; one from E. F. Goltra of St. Louis and one from W. B. McKinley of San Francisco, of the traction system agreeing to match a hundred by M. F. Dunlap who agreed.

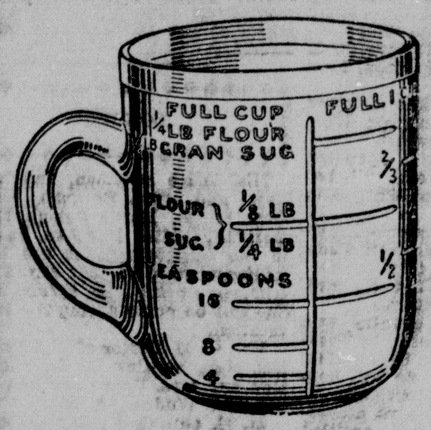

A note of triumph was observable and all seemed determined to raise the needed sum today. It was decided to have two meetingts today, one at one and one at six in order to give good opportunity to do the work thoroughly. It was also deemed best to print the list of subscribers and today to turn all solicitors loose and let them canvas the field thoroughly.

UNCERTAINTIES OF FOREIGN SITUATION MAKE FOR CAUTION

Steadily Expanding Industrial Operations Have a Stimulating Effect Generally.

New York, May 28.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

"Steadily expanding industrial operations—due mainly, but not wholly to the big war demands—have a stimulating effect generally although the many uncertainties of the foreign situation make for caution everywhere. Hesitancy in new enterprises, however, does not imply any lack of confidence in the future but rather a disposition to await further developments in regard to this country's diplomatic relations with Germany. Fundamentally, domestic conditions gain in strength; gold is again flowing this way and the bank position is unusually sound, with ample funds available for all requirements; collections are somewhat less difficult on the whole and while credits are still closely scanned, commercial failures during May made much the best exhibit of the year. Moreover, the purchasing power of the people is enhanced as the number of unemployed diminishes.

"Prospects for large traffic movements in grain and other staples prompt the transportating companies to enter the market more freely for needed equipment and buying on the part of these interests, together with the urgent war demands, results in continued improvement in iron and steel."

MEREDOSIA

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Apperson are the proud parents of a baby girl, born at their home Wednesday.

The board of education for the graded school has secured the following teachers for the coming year. Miss Effie Bennett for first and second grades, Miss Chenoweth of Versailles for third and fourth, Miss Mabel Coughlin of Pittsfield for fifth and sixth and Mr. Joe Peters for seventh and eighth.

Mrs. Richard Glenn, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomason, departed Wednesday evening for her home in Keokuk, Iowa.

Memorial services will be held at the Methodist church Sunday morning. Rev. S. A. McIntosh will deliver the sermon and music appropriate for the service will be rendered by the choir.

Miss Eva Beauchamp is visiting friends in Jacksonville.

Guy Apperson of St. Louis is visiting his father and brother in this city.

Mrs. H. Swan departed Monday for her home in Kremlin, Colo., after several weeks' visit with her mother, Mrs. Adaline Laughney.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Fletcher have moved their household goods to Kansas City, where they expect to reside.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Hessey of Springfield expect to move to Meredosia to reside. They moved to Springfield from this city a short time ago and are ready to return. They will be welcomed by their many friends.

The river at this place is rising on account of the recent heavy rains.

Monday night, May 31, will be the time of the third quarterly conference at the Methodist church, at which time the district superintendent, Rev. F. A. McCarty of Jacksonville, will preach.

The regular monthly meeting and birthday social of the W. F. M. S. will be held at the home of Mrs. J. H. Loorman on next Wednesday afternoon. The social hour will be in charge of Mesdames Belle Savage, Ida McLain, Clara Streuter, Nellie Waldo and Rose Looman.

E. F. Geiss has been confined to his home the past week with a severe attack of rheumatism.

A large crowd took in the moonlight excursion from this place to Beardstown and return Thursday evening on the steamer Columbia.

A REIGN OF NO LAW

That In Reality Is What Is Meant by Martial Law.

SUSPENDS ALL OTHER LAWS.

Those In Command Have Supreme Authority, and There Is No Check Upon Their Arbitrary Power Over Persons and Property of All Kinds.

What is martial law? Some people have a vague idea that it is military law, but this is a mistake. Military law has nothing whatever to do with martial law. Military law is simply that branch of the laws applicable to military service and duties, consisting of the statutes, regulations and principles by which the army and its affairs are governed. The misunderstanding has arisen partly from the name given to it and partly from the fact that it is the military which frequently carry out the regulations, while often the military forms of courts are held.

The police, however, if duly authorized, may carry out martial law.

It is difficult to define the meaning of martial law in nontechnical words. The dictionary definition of martial law is that it is military authority exercised in accordance with the laws and usages of war when the civil authority is wholly or partly suspended, either by proclamation or by the actual presence of a hostile force. But the best definition given has been that of "no law."

It means that the supreme authority is empowered to do as it wills and that all ordinary laws, for the time being, have no operation whatever. There are no laws dealing with its application, those in command possessing entirely arbitrary power.

This means that there will be a complete revolution in the ways of the people wherever martial law is proclaimed. All ordinary life will be affected, and it will no longer be the case that "an Englishman's home is his castle."

As a rule, when a place is under martial law its inhabitants must clear out of the streets before a certain time every evening, say 8 o'clock. Then all places of amusement, public houses and so on are closed entirely.

Even during the daytime a limit is made as to the number of people who may assemble, so that a party of people—numbering above, say, half a dozen—would be liable to instant punishment. Also certain places and certain streets are forbidden to the people who may be compelled to keep beyond a certain radius from the specified places.

Those in authority may take any object they like from anywhere, entering houses as well as shops to commandeer whatever they wish without any control. Any person may be compelled to give a complete account of his movements, past, present and projected, and may be searched or even arrested without a warrant.

Crimes are dealt with very severely. Thus suppose a man breaks a window. Instead of being hauled up before a magistrate and subjected to a small fine, the policeman would be perfectly justified in shooting him immediately.

So in the case of robbery. A man stealing a purse need not be arrested, but could be shot, this being a perfectly justifiable action on the part of those in authority.

Every person might be compelled to carry a passport, giving full evidence of his identification. Passports would be necessary in the case of those using horses or vehicles of any kind, including cycles.

All persons who were compelled to be out at night would be provided with special night passes signed by the one in authority. No person would be allowed to leave one town for another or travel beyond a certain distance without being the possessor of a properly signed passport given for this special purpose.

The object, of course, is to keep the people within certain districts and also to prevent foreign spies and the like from moving into the country and so gleaning information of value to our enemies.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Imperial Rome.

There are various estimates of the population of ancient Rome. The figure given by Gibbon is 1,200,000. Baker, in his notes to Montesquieu's "Grandeur and Decadence of the Romans," gives good reasons for thinking that Rome's population was 2,000,000. The city had within its walls in the time of Theodosius 48,332 habitations built, as a rule, with several stories.—New York American.

The Word "Rajah."

Literally the word rajah means king and maharajah the great king or ruler over several kings, but generally speaking the titles rajah, maharajah and nawab have no greater significance than the words feudal lords as used in mediaeval times in Europe. Many of them have been made by the will of the reigning chief, many bestowed for meritorious acts and deeds.—Exchange.

How to Make a Useful Knife and Scissors Sharpener.

There is nothing more useful in the kitchen than a board covered with emery paper. It is splendid for sharpening knives and scissors and useful in removing rust from steel knives and forks. Get a board six inches long, two inches wide and one thick. Cover with emery cloth. This puts a smooth edge on carving knives the same as a stone.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARYY.

Practical Books.

Bailey—Principles of Fruit Growing.

A new edition of a standard text in the Rural Science series, revised and rewritten throughout.

Condit—How to Cook and Why.

Presents in simple untechnical language for the average housekeeper the scientific principles underlying cookery.

Wardall—A Study of Foods.

Art.

Reinach—An Illustrated Manual on the History of Art Throughout the Ages.

Root—Design in Landscape Gardening.

Compiled largely from lectures given in the department of landscape gardening at the University of Illinois. An original treatment in that it formulates the principles underlying the art instead of stating the practices of the art. Leaf color in shrubs is taken up in a new way. Good illustrations.

Strang—Prima Donnas and Soubrettes.

Gift.

Description and Travel.

Fraser—Diplomatist's Wife in Japan.

Williams—Russia of the Russians.

Readable and the author refrains from the usual generalizations and prophecies. He is a well informed observer and his jurgments are penetrating.

Literature.

Dodgson—Phantasmagoria.

Noyes—Drake.

A stirring narrative poem of the adventures of Sir Francis Drake.

Social Conditions.

Hale—What Women Want.

Hecker—A Short History of Women's Rights from the Days of Augustus to the Present Time, with Special Reference to England and the United states.

M. E. church Sunday school next Sunday at the Masonic hall, 10:00 a. m. Preaching service at the Christian church at 7:30 p. m.

The building committee of the M. E. church awarded the contract for building their new brick church to Mr. J. B. Martin of East Liverpool, Ohio, who will begin the work of wrecking the old church and constructing the new one next Monday, May 31.

The sealed bids were opened on Tuesday afternoon. The bidders were Mr. C. C. Carter of Jacksonville, $10,261; C. A. Seymour, Jacksonville, $10,592; J. B. Martin, $10,237. Mr. Martin's bid included the cost of plans and specifications which is 3 per cent of the contract price which makes his bid really $9,937, while 3 per ent of the contract price would be added to the cost of building should the contract have been given to either of the other contractors.

The M. E. congregation is moving their church furniture to the Masonic hall May 27, where they will hold their services until the new church is completed, except the Sunday evening services which will be held in the Christian church.

BERLIN DENIES STATEMENT

Berlin, via Amsterdam to London, May 27.—(2:19 a. m.)—An official statement denies the truth of the British "eye-witness" narrative stating that the German artillery fired into the Saxon troops. It also denies that Germans in British uniforms tried to approach the British lines.

Charles A. Hall of Little Indian was a caller on Jacksonville people yesterday.

A Bill to Increase Accidents on Railways

THERE is pending in the legislature of Illinois a bill to limit freight trains on railways to 50 cars. This bill purports to be advocated on the ground that a reduction in the length of freight trains is needed to reduce the number of railway accidents. Many trains containing more than 50 cars are now operated with safety in this state, and it can be demonstrated that

The Proposed Legislation Would Not Tend to Reduce, But Would Tend to Increase, the Number of Accidents

A reduction of the length of trains would obviously make it necessary for the railways to run more trains to handle the same amount of business. But common sense suggests that, under any given conditions, an increase in the number of trains run will make it harder to prevent collisions and other accidents, and will therefore tend to increase the number of persons killed and injured on railways. The statistics of the Interstate Commerce Commission show that this common sense view is correct.

The number of freight trains that must be run varies from year to year with the fluctuations in the amount of traffic to be handled. When the number of freight trains run has increased in the past, there almost invariably has been an increase in accidents; and when the number of freight trains run has decreased there almost invariably has been a decrease in accidents.

Consider the following statistics regarding collisions

The table below gives the number of freight trains run one mile, and the number of collision accidents in the United States in each year since 1904:

	Freight Train Miles		No. of Collisions
1905	546,000,000		6,224
1906	594,000,000	Increase	7,194	Increase
1907	630,000,000	Increase	8,026	Increase
1908	587,000,000	Decrease	6,363	Decrease
1909	568,000,000	Decrease	4,411	Decrease
1910	635,000,000	Increase	5,861	Increase
1911	626,000,000	Decrease	5,605	Decrease
1912	612,000,000	Decrease	5,483	Decrease
1913	644,000,000	Increase	6,477	Increase
1914	612,000,000	Decrease	5,241	Decrease

In every one of these years there was an increase in the average length of freight trains. And yet in every year when there was an increase in the number of freight trains run there was an increase in collisions, and in every year when there was a decrease in freight trains run there was a decrease in collisions.

Consider the following statistics regarding passengers and employes killed

The following table gives the number of freight train miles run and the number of railway passengers and railway employes killed and injured in all railway accidents in the United States since 1902:

	Freight Train Miles		Number of Passengers and Employes Killed		Number of Passengers and Employes Injured
1903	526,000,000		3,554		45,977
1904	535,000,000	Increase	3,787	Increase	51,343	Increase
1905	546,000,000	Increase	3,798	Increase	55,466	Increase
1906	594,000,000	Increase	4,225	Increase	66,709	Increase
1907	630,000,000	Increase	5,000	Increase	76,286	Increase
1908	587,000,000	Decrease	3,764	Decrease	68,989	Decrease
1909	568,000,000	Decrease	2,791	Decrease	63,920	Decrease
1910	635,000,000	Increase	3,804	Increase	82,374	Increase
1911	626,000,000	Decrease	3,519	Decrease	60,235	Decrease
1912	612,000,000	Decrease	3,553	Increase	65,465	Increase
1913	644,000,000	Increase	3,704	Increase	74,336	Increase
1914	612,000,000	Decrease	3,115	Decrease	67,059	Decrease

Remember that in every one of these years there was an increase in the length of trains. Yet in every year except one increases in the number of freight trains run caused increases in accidents and decreases in the number of freight trains run caused decreases in accidents. It is manifest that long trains do not increase accidents. It is equally manifest that increases in the number of freight trains do increase accidents.

The real purpose of this proposed legislation, which is being promoted by certain labor organizations, is not to promote safety, but to increase the number of men the railways must employ and its passage would cause an enormous increase in railway expenses.

Do You Believe in Safety First?

The managements of the railways of Illinois are doing all they can to promote "safety first" and reduce accidents. Do you, Mr. Citizen of Illinois, want to see their efforts to promote "safety first" largely defeated, and an enormous and unnecessary expense forced upon them, in order to give jobs to men that they do not need to handle the traffic? If not—if you believe in efficiency, economy and "safety first" in railway operation—help to defeat this bill. To do this and tell them you are opposed to this legislation.

Communicate with your Representatives and Senators at once

SHORT SERMONS.

As a simple naturalism takes the place of the old pessimistic supernaturalism, the faith of the world—that in every man which helps him to realize his aspirations—has an optimistic glow.—E. E. Newbert.

It is a grand thing to find joy in one's work. If you have found that, you have found the heart of life. Glad service is better than great service unless that be glad too.—James Buckham.

Of course we have a duty to distinguish between the good and the bad, but we have a duty to discriminate also among the things that are good. We are made not for the good only, but for the best.—Robert Speer.

EVILS OF IGNORANCE.

Nothing is more terrible than active ignorance.—Goethe.

The lying man who does not learn is dark, dark, like one walking in the night.—From the Chinese.

The most ignorant are the most conceited. Unless a man knows that there is something more to be known his inference is, of course, that he knows everything. * * * But let a man know that there are things to be known of which he is ignorant, and it is so much carved out of his domain of universal knowledge.—Horace Mann.

The work of decorating the Ayers National bank building is progressing and the scaffold was taken down yesterday. The sides of the apartment will soon be done and then the whole will present a beautiful appearance.

BEGINNING OF SHIPMENTS OF NEW CROP HAVE BEARISH EFFECT

Energetic Pressure From Sellers Quickly Follows Advices—Market Closes Heavy at a Net Decline.

Chicago, May 28.—Announcement of the beginning of shipments from the 1915 harvest had a decidedly bearish influence today on wheat. The market closed heavy at ⅞c to 1c net decline. Corn finished unchanged to ¼@⅜c lower, oats off ⅛@¼c to 1c and provisions the same as last night to 10c down.

Energetic pressure from sellers quickly followed advices that the first car of new wheat shipped this year in the United States was on the way from Texas to Kansas City. Eastern longs were said to have been especially prompt to let go of holdings. Bearish crop opinions from southwestern railroad sources counted also against the bulls and so too did prospects of better weather tomorrow.

Damaging storms made the wheat market at first have a tendency to climb. Later, however, traders were disposed to accept theories that injury caused by lodging would for the most part be repaired by plenty of sunshine and that the unusual amount of moisture lately had been of considerable benefit in stopping the ravages of the chinch bug. Corn weakened when wheat turned decisively downgrade. Previously excessive rain and many reports that much replanting would be necessary led to a good deal of buying. The chief reason for the depression of oats was a British government request to delay shipments.

It was explained that ports were temporarily congested but that it was not true any purchases were being cancelled.

FOUR APHIDS ARE INJURIOUS TO APPLE

SERIOUS INFESTATION WIDELY SPREAD OVER STATE.

Species Are Small Soft-Bodied Sucking Insects Reproducing Themselves With Great Rapidity in Dry Warm Weather—Some Remedies Suggested.

(By B. S. Pickett, Assistant Chief in Pomology, University of Illinois.)

Aphids infesting the apple buds appeared in serious numbers during the present season (1915) in the University orchards, when the buds began to swell. They were also observed in neighboring orchards and in the experimental orchards of the Department at Olney and Neoga. In 1914, apple aphids caused serious damage in certain counties of Illinois, and some damage was reported from many sections of the state. With a view to finding the extent of the present season's infestation, the writer telegraphed to six orchardists in representative parts of the state for information as to the occurence of the insects. The replies were as follows:

Insects Widely Spread.

From Johnson county—Aphis wrose than ever before. Something must be done quickly or crop is ruined.

From Marion county—Aphis situation much more serious this morning (April 10).

From Union county—Find some aphis but not in alarming numbers.

From Washington county—Do not find any aphis.

From Jersey county—Green aphis very bad on almost all orchards.

From Tazewell and McLean counties—The aphids are very bad at Lilly. At Normal there are some aphids on some trees.

The replies indicate a serious infestation more or less widely spread over the state, and the Department of Horticulture is therefore preparing this brief circular in order to provide information regarding the insects and to suggest measures for their control.

Description of the Aphids.

Four kinds of aphids attack the apple, the Apple Aphis, the Rosy Apple Aphis, the European Grain Aphis and the Clover Aphis. All kinds are small, soft-bodies, sucking insects reproducing themselves with great rapidity in dry, warm weather. Cold, heavy rains are detrimental to the propagation and development of the insects. The various species differ, however, in their appearance and habits in some important respects.

Remedial Measures.

The species of aphids above mentioned are easily killed in the adult stage by certain contact sprays. Winter applications of lime sulfur cannot be depended on to destroy the eggs. Poison sprays such as arsenate of lead are not eaten by this type of insect, and consequently are ineffective remedies for aphids. Kerosene emulsion is effective but is uncertain in its affect on the foliage of the trees. The best available sprays are the tobacco decocions, of which the one most widely in use is "Black Leaf 40," a proprietary tobacco extract, made by the Kentucky Tobacco Products Company, Louisville, Kentucky. This material is used at the rate of one gallon in one thousand gallons of spray. It may be combined with lime sulfur, lime sulfur arsenate of lead, Boardeaux, or Bordeaux arsenate of lead, not with arsenate of lead alone.

Time to Spray.

The ideal time to spray for these aphids is just as soon as all of nearly all the eggs appear to have hatched. Observations made in the University orchards this season indicate that all the eggs hatched before the blossom buds began to separate. After the leaves expand somewhat and the blossom buds separate, the aphids are provided with more hiding places and are more difficult to hit with the spray. Unfortunately, spraying at this time would require an extra application in addition to the cluster bud spray (made for scab, curculio, bud moth, spring canker worms, etc.,) and would thus add seriously to the cost of the season's operations. Spraying for aphids at the time of the cluster bud spray is, however, highly effective, and in general it is advised that this method be followed. If, however, previous experience has shown serious losses from aphids, or if they are present in extremely large numbers, the extra application may be well worth while.

Want Observations.

Fruit growers will confer a favor on the Department of Horticulture if they will write us the results of their observations on the behavior of the aphis during the present season. The points on which information is particularly desired are the time of appearance and extent of the infestation, the color of the adults, the duration of the attack, the disappearance and reappearance of the aphids, if these occur, and the success or failure of any remedial measures tried. Such information will be very helpful in determining the extent of the need for treatments and the character of the treatments themselves.

For fuller statement in regard to the aphids, send for Circular 179 just published, by the Agricultural Experimtnt State, Urbana, Ill.

Mrs. E. J. Kumle of Alexander left yesterday morning for Quincy for a visit with Mrs. Edward Hinrichsen. Her brother Charles M. Strawn, accompanied her, returning from Quincy last evening.

DUAL-PURPOSE COW IS BEING STUDIED

MUST BE VALUED BY ABILITY TO COMBINE STANDARDS.

Required to Produce a Profitable Flow of Milk, Fatten Readily and Furnish a Desirable Carcass of Beef When Slaughtered—Ninety Percent of Cows in England Belong to This Type.

(By W. H. Smith, University of Illinois.)

Students of present day systems of farming are giving much attention to the place of the duel-purpose cow. Opposed by the dairymen and ignored by the beef men, she continues her popularity among the farmers of this country. Perhaps the cause of these differences of opinion lies in the fact that there is no definite standard yet established as to what a dual-purpose cow really is. The beef animal is rated by his dressing per cent, the dairy animal by her milk yield, while the dual-purpose cow must be valued by her ability to combine the standards of both.

Therefore the dual-purpose cow is one that produces a profitable flow of milk, fattens readily when dry, and furnishes a desirable carcass of beef when slaughtered. This type of animal is not, as some think, of recent origin but reached a high degree of excellence over a century ago. Thomas Bates, one of the most noted early Shorthorn improvers, made this breed popular on both sides of the Atlantic by successfully combining in his cattle beef and milk production. After 100 years many descendants of his cattle are still showing the dual-purpose characters which have been so firmly fixed through his efforts.

Oxford of Niagara.

The writer has in mind at this time a cow, known as Oxford of Niagara 41st, which might properly be classed as a dual-purpose cow. She represents in a marked degree a desirable beef type, yet she has made a successful record in the production of milk.

Oxford of Niagara 41st was dropped August 12, 1901, and is still living. Her first milking record began April 5, 1905, after the birth of her second calf, and continued until December 2, 1905. In this 32 week period she produced 3289 pounds of milk which tested 3.8 per cent and yielded 107.28 pounds of butter fat, or 125 pounds of butter.

The second test began October 9, 1906, and continued for one year, during which time she produced 5968 pounds of milk which tested 3.9 per cent and yielded 216 pounds of butter fat, or 252 pounds of butter. During the first 32 weeks of this period she produced 4156 pounds of milk as compared to 3280 pounds of the previous year, showing a gain of 876 pounds.

Striking Feature of Record.

One striking fact in her record is the persistence of milk flow which this cow showed. Her highest daily production during the second year of the test was 25,03, which she made three weeks after freshening, while at the end of the 32nd week she was giving 15.85 pounds, and averaged for the entire year 16.35 pounds. The above records are by no means exceptional, but coupled with her ability to produce calves of good beef type serve to demonstrate the merits of the dual-purpose cow.

She is at the present time suckling her ninth calf, having dropped one pair of twins and a calf every other year except two since a three year old. One of the two years in which she failed to raise a calf the herd was without a bull, and disease in the herd prevented it during the other. Three of her calves were sold for herd bulls and the others in every case made good beef animals. Had these calves been produced from strictly dairy animals, their value would have been hardly worth considering. This factor is well worth mentioning and becomes more important as the value of beef increases. This cow is still showing plenty of vigor, 60 to 70 days' feed would put her in condition to weigh 1800 pounds and sell as a prime cow on the market.

The general farmer of the cornbelt who desires a sufficient number of cattle to consume the ordinary roughage and crop residues of his farm, and at the same time give milk enough for his family and possibly some to sell, is a strong advocate of this type of cow. Besides, the handling of these cattle can be carried on without the labor and expensive care necessary for the dairy type.

Oxford of Niagara 41st—a fine type of the dual purpose cow, with her latest calf.

Popular in England.

Popular as these cows are, they have never become as numerous in this country as in England where it is estimated that fully ninety per cent of the milk cows belong to this type. This is perhaps due to the difficulty of securing bulls of this type as well as the fact that large numbers of the best cows are picked up by the commercial dairymen, who keeps them for milk through one lactation period, and then fattens them for the butcher—In Banker-Farmer.

RECENT ADVANCES IN WARFARE AGAINST INFECTIOUS DISEASE

Destruction of Mosquito Marks Point in Public Health Progress—Education for Personal Hygiene.

(By J. M. Dodson, M. D., University of Chicago in University of Illinois Health Series.)

The destruction of the breeding places of the mosquito in the centers of yellow fever and malaria have all but abolished these diseases from Cuba and other regions where intelligent sanitation has been exercised. The Panama canal zone, formerly all but uninhabitable for the white race and in which the awful ravages of disease compelled the French to abandon in their attempt to construct the canal, is today almost as healthy as Milwaukee—and this accomplishment constitutes another and the greatest triumph of the American sanitation.

And yet, with full knowledge of these possibilities what is the recent history of infectious diseases in the United States? Within a decade we have suffered a wide-spread epidemic of small pox introduced by our soldiers returning from Cuba, and almost any day one may read of its outbreak in one or more cities—all due to our shameful neglect of vaccination.

In 1909 in the city of Montreal several hundred persons suffered from typhoid fever, with many deaths and annually this easily advoidable disease gathers its toll of many thousand lives in the United States. Ten years ago the plague broke out in San Francisco, but its obvious existence was stupidly denied by the local and state officials until demonstrated by the overwhelming proofs of its existence by a United States Commission. As a result of this fatally, foolish, dishonest policy. San Francisco and other parts of California are today infected with plague, infected rats, gophers and squirrels, and the plague, hitherto an occasional visitor has become an endermic, permanent pest, whose outbreak may be looked for at any time. A similar short-sighted policy in the epidomic of yellow fever in New Orleans in 1905, cost many lives, and thousand of dollars before the national health authorities assumed control and stamped out the disease.

Each recurring autumn, the opening of our schools and the attendant commingling of children is followed by a sharp vision the curve of prevalence of scarlet-fever, diphtheria, measles and whooping cough, due to the ignorance of the criminal carelessness on indifference of parents who permit their still infected children to return to school and expose their mates to danger. Not a very creditable showing this for a nation of people, whom we like to believe the most enlightened and public-spirited in the world.

What are the remedies for such a condition of affairs? How are the people of this country to reap to the full the benefits of existing knowledge concerning the spread of infectious disease?

Remedies proposed:

First, by education: the universal education of the public in regard to the salient facts of infection

Our children should be educated in school and at home. In school, as to the structure and function of their bodies, surely a matter which yields in importance to no other in the curriculum, but which has, never, as yet, been effectually accomplished. Based on this knowledge of the simpler facts of anatomy and physiology, they must be taught the —by lectures, preferably illustrated, like those which are proving so effective in the anti-tuberculosis crusade, by the correspondence courses of the state and other universities, and by the exhibition of charts, pictures, models and the like in schools, museums, churches, libraries, parks and other public places where people congregate. Think what might be accomplished in a few years by a state like Illinois if such measures were adopted to educate the public in matters of health and sanitation, as have been so splendidly effective in educating the farmers of the state in matters agricultural.

The adult public, must be informed by every means at command, by carefully prepared, easily understood articles in newspaper and magazine pertinent truths in reference to infectious disease and the importance of sanitary science. The futility of attempting to inculcate such truths when the sanitary conditions of our schools and their surroundings remain so deplorably defective as many of them are, is self-evident. At home they must be taught not only facts and precepts, but right habits of living and personal hygiene. Personal hygiene is wholly a matter of habit.

ILLINOIS ABOUNDS IN OPPORTUNITIES

STATE ABOUNDS IN CERAMIC PRODUCTS.

Glass, Quicklime, Plaster, Cement and Other Clay Products Are Made from These Raw Material Which are Practically Inexhaustible—Properties of Four Different Shales

(By R. T. Stull, Acting Director of Ceramics, University of Illinois)

It has been said that Illinois is a wealthy state, a state of opportunities. This is born out by recent government statistics which show that Illinois ranks second in the valuation of her farm products, third in the production of coal and petroleum and fourth in the production of clay products.

As clay operators, that which is of most interest to us is the output of the Ceramic products. By Ceramic products we mean those products which are made from the non-metallic minerals and developed in kilns and furnaces at incandescent heats.

The three principal raw materials used in the manufacture of these products are sand, limestone and clay. The State of Illinois contains vast deposits of these raw materials, so vast in fact that it can be said that they are practically inexhaustible.

The principal ceramic products made from these raw materials are glass, quicklime, plaster, cement, and a wide variety of clay products represented by the common Chicago brick as one extreme and the finest of art pottery as the other.

Glass Sand.

In the La Salle district, a glass hand of very high grade is found, which is employed to a limited extent for glass manufacture in the State and shipped extensively to other states for glass, abrasive and other purposes. The valuation of glass sand produced annually in the State amounts to less than $300,000, the valuation of the State's annual output of Portland cement totals approximately $4,500,000, while the valuation of the State's output of clay products amounts to over $15,000,000.

It is the clay product which is of the most interest to us at this time, and it is this class of ceramic products and materials that will be considered in what is to follow.

The state is abundantly supplied with a variety of clays and shales. With the exception of flint fire clay, clays can be found within the state suitable for the manufacture of almost any kind of clay product desired.

Most of the state is overland with surface clays of which a great number are suitable for the manufacturer of common brick, front brick drain tile, and hollow blocks. Some of these clays are worthless while others, notably the joint clays, can be successfully manufactured if given a preliminary treatment.

Shale Exposures.

The shale exposures are widely distributed, though for the most part they are covered with glacial drift in the central part of the state.

Shales are operated extensively for the manufacture of paving brick and building brick, at Danville, Streator, Galesburg, Alton, Murphysboro and Olney. By drawing a line on the map through each of these points in turn an area is enclosed representing aprpoximately two thirds of the area of the state. Within that area there are a number of places where the shales are also being worked. We might mention among these, Springfield, Peoria and Bloomington.

This area by no means includes all the plants operating on shales, since there are a number operating outside of it. The points mentioned however will serve to indicate the wide distribution of the valuable shales.

Along the Illinois river there are a number of shales exposed having very little or no overburden. From Chillicothe to a point about three miles north of Sparta, there are a number of outcrops of shale with coal in the same vicinity, and located close to railroad facilities.

There are four different shales which have been tested and whose properties are known. One of these burns to a bright cherry red color, free fom scum and equal to the famous Bradford red of Pennsylvania, or the Bedford shale of Ohio. Another layer burns to a good red color but shows scumming slightly, the third shale when tested showed physical properties very similar to those of the Streator shale. The fourth gives some trouble in oxidizing but when carefully burned gives a buff color.

Located as they are with coal near by, next to railroad facilities and close to the Illinoi river, these shales offer excellent opportunities for the development of a number of different clay working industries. Time is coming when water transportation will play an important part in our commerce. It is only a question of a few years when we may see the Illinois Waterway teeming with ships tugs and barges, moving products to the Great Lakes in one direction and to the Mississippi River and the Gulf on the other.—Abstract of an Address.

Experienced Women Advise Mother's Friend

Because it is so perfectly safe to use and has been of such great help to a host of expectant mothers, these women, experienced in this most happy period, advise the use of "Mother's Friend."

Applied externally to the abdominal muscles its purpose is to relieve the undue tension upon the cords and ligaments resulting from muscular expansion. Beneath the surface is a network of fine nerve threads and the gentle, soothing embrocation, "Mother's Friend," is designed to so lubricate the muscular fibres as to avoid the unnecessary and continuous nagging upon this myriad of nerves. It is a reflex action.

Applied to the breasts it affords the proper massage to prevent caking.

Thousands of women have reason to believe in this splendid help under the trying ordeal of motherhood. Their letters are eloquent evidence of its great value to women. In use for many years it has come to be a standard remedy for the purpose.

There is scarcely a well-stocked drug store anywhere but what you can easily obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" and in nearly every town and village is a grandma who herself used it in earlier years. Expectant mothers are urged to try this splendid assistant to ease, comfort and safety.

Mother's Friend is prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 510 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Send for our little book.

It should be remembered that what is said of "Mother's Friend" is the thought expressed by the thousands of women who have successfully used it and recommended it through two generations.

COULD NOT WALK

And For Four Years, Could Not Stand Without Support.

Chillicothe, Ohio—"Nothing pleases me more than to speak a word of praise for Cardui, the woman's tonic," says Mrs. Ed Davis, of this town, "for I firmly believe that it snatched me from the grave.

I have been married 14 years, and had two children. After the youngest was born, I was not able to walk, and for four years, I was not strong enough to stand on my feet five minutes at the time, without something to support me.

Nothing seemed to do me any good, until, finally, I commenced using Cardui, the woman's tonic. I only used about four bottles, but, today I am well, can do my work, and walk as far as I want to.

I can never praise Cardui enough, and my neighbors cannot get done wondering at the change in me."

You, too, can depend on Cardui, because Cardui is a gentle, harmless, vegetable tonic, that can do you nothing but good.

Prepared from vegetable herbs, Cardui has a specific effect on the womanly constitution, and puts strength where it is needed.

SOUTH BOUND HUMMER ON C. & A. MAY BE SENT THROUGH CITY

Train Routed Through Springfield Several Years Ago May Be Restored to Original Schedule.

The C. & A. south-bound "Hummer", leaving Chicago at 11:15 o'clock each night, may be again routed through Jacksonville, if efforts of the local Chamber of Commerce in this direction bear fruit. Secretary Weber and Frank H. Bode, chairman of the transportation committee, have been in consultation with the general passenger agent and hope is held out that this train, for several years past routed through Springfield, may be returned to its original schedule.

Four trains leave Chicago for the south within six hours, C. & A. timetables show. These trains depart at 6:30, 9:30, 11:15 and 11:59, respectively, and all go through Springfield. It is proposed to bring the 11:15 passenger through this city with 3:31 a. m., the old schedule, as the probable time of arrival here.

MATRIMONIAL

Rice-Sheppard.

Thursday afternoon Charles T. Rice and Miss Ethel Shepaprd boarded a train at Roodhouse for Carrollton being accompanied by two of Miss Sheppard's siters, Misses Myree and Eliazbeth. Securing a marriage license Charles and Ethel proceeded to the office of Squire Horace W. Fortman and were married in the presence of the accompanying sisters. They then returned to Roodhouse and the bride and groom went to a home already furnished.

The groom has for several years been employed in Roodhouse and has a good reputation. The bride is a graduate of the Roodhouse high school and is a lady of accomplishments.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Buland who went to Springfield Thursday evening, returned to Jacksonville Friday and in the afternoon left for Chicago.

ACADEMY GRADUATING EXERCISES OF ILLINOIS WOMAN'S COLLEGE

Six Young Ladies Receive Diplomas at Commencement Last Night.

The academy graduating exercises of the Illinois Woman's college were held in music hall at eight o'clock Friday evening, there being a large audience in attendance. Flowers were used in decorating the stage and the class numbering six occupied seats on the platform. The program was one of merit and shows the excellent work which is being done in that department of the college. An especially pleasing number was the academy glee club which gave two selections. The club has received excellent training under Miss Demuth.

The dean, Mrs. Mothershead, presented the closs to Dr. Harker who gave the certificates.

SOCIAL EVENTS

Afternoon Tea For Miss Alice Wadsworth.

Mrs. F. J. Andrews and Mrs. H. K. Chenoweth gave an afternoon tea Friday at the home of Mrs. Andrews 1252 West College avenue in honor of Miss Alice Wadsworth. The home was artistically decorated for the occasion with beautiful roses, carnations, syringa and ferns. The dining room was in green and white; the library in red and white; music room in pink and white and the hall and reception room in pink. The collation was served by Hood and Larson. The afternoon was one of unusual pleasure. Randall's orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

The assisting hostesses were Mrs. E. E. Crabtree, Mrs. F. J. Waddell, Mrs. John Reynolds, Mrs. F. E. Farrell, Mrs. George E. Matthews, Mrs. Earl Wiswell, Mrs. Harold Gay, Mrs. E. B. Harmon, Mrs. J. W. Bubbel, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Mrs. George Orear, Mrs. Helen Powers, Mrs. Harry Hall, Mrs. Henry Yates. Miss Edith Philippi, Misses Mary and Alice Wadsworth, Miss Nelle Taylor and Miss Applebee.

Miss Gates Hostess for Miss Alma Weber.

In honor of Miss Alma Weber of Illinois Woman's college, who is to be married. Miss Louise Gates entertained a company of sixteen yesterday afternoon at her home, 1036 West Lafayette avenue. Garden flowers were used as decorations at the dainty luncheon.

Miss Weber is president of Belles Lettres society and is a young woman of grace and charm. She is a resident of Pana, where in several weeks she will become the bride of Bert Fairchild.

Miss Lulu Bell Hildreth Entertains Sixteen.

Sixteen young ladies were guests of Miss Lulu Bell Hildreth last evening at her home on Hardin avenue and a pleasant season of dancing, games and music was enjoyed. Red and white were used in the dining room and pink and white bedecked the living room.

At the evening's close Miss Hildreth entertained the young ladies of the company at a slumber party

Teachers Dine at Inn.

The teachers of the Fourth Ward public school enjoyed a six o'clock dinner at the Peacock Inn Friday evening. Following the dinner a social hour was spent.

Annual Picnic of School for Deaf.

The annual picnic of the State School for the Deaf was held Friday and as is always the case was a most delightful affair. The rainy weather could not dampen the ardor of the boys and girls and they proceeded to enjoy themselves to the utmost. At noon a bountiful dinner was served partaken alike by pupils and teachers. After dinner the halls of the institution were thrown open to the merry makers and games and dancing served to while away the hours most delightfully. Superintendent Gillett was in happy mood because the day was the anniversary or his birth and he was remembered with happy felicitations, among others being a birthday cake with sixteen lighted candles, the same he solemnly assured everybody represented his exact age and certainly his appearance would not gainsay it. It was a happy time all around.

Rev. Father Healy of Murrayville continues very ill and Friday his condition was considered grave. Drs. F. A. Norris and G. O. Webster were in Murrayville yesterday to attend him.

Miss Emma Brodrick of 415 West State street is reported very ill.

ELBERT HUBBARD AND HIS APPRECIATION OF ELKS

Lusitania Victim Said He Was Not a Joiner, But Liked the B. P. O. E. Best.

The fault of our brothers we will write on the sands.

Their virtues on the tablets of love and memory.

I am not a j'iner, but if I jine the j'iners I will begin with the Elks, and probably end there.

Without any special written code or creed, the Elks stand for a certain standard of intellect and ethics.

The man with an elk's tooth on his watch-chain or the antlers in his buttonhole has no quarrel with God. He accepts life and finds it good. He may not be so very wise nor so very good, but since he knows that he is not wise and is ready to admit that he is not so very good, he is wiser than he knows and better than he will acknowledge.

Real Elk Is Lenient.

The true Elk does not condemn, disparage nor rip reputations up the back. Realizing his own limitations, he is lenient in his judgment toward those who have been tempted by fate beyond their power to resist. This quality of mercy I have noticed is strongly implanted in Elk nature. Your Elk does not weep over his own troubles but for the stricken souls on earth his tears of pity are near the surface. The Elk loves children, respects old age, and so far as I have seen doesn't incline especially toward indifference to feminine charms. In many instances I have imagined the Elk revealed a just appreciation of the elevated spheroid. Yet in all your life you never saw one of these sons of Elkdom going off alone and cutting into the grape; his irritation is all in the line of conviviality; he sometimes overdoes it. But I believe this will hold: No little pismire of a man ever joined the Elks as would not feel at home among them. To be an ELK you must have faith in other men, faith in yourself and faith in the universe.

Source of Perpetual Youth.

The Elks all look alike and are all of one age. Just what the age is I have not yet made out; it lies somewhere between 30 and 50. No Elk is more than 50, no matter how long he has lived, and none weighs more than 200 pounds. They all have the joyous bubbling heart of youth and no whiskers. Lilacs are out of their lives and Galways are tabooed.

I never saw an Elk who was very rich excepting in kindness and good cheer, nor did I ever see one circumnavigating on his uppers. They have all the money they need, even if not all the money they want. They make money and they spend it, and the more they spend the more they seem to make. "Keep the change" is the remark the Elk always has in electrotype. I have been occasionally pained by hearing Elks relate stories that were slightly gamboge, tinted on the edges but although these tales of persiflage had Neufchatel flavor, yet there were always attic supplies to redeem the mass from mortifying microbes. The Elk does not worry nor shake the red rag of wordy theological warfare. He believes that everything is all right or nearly so, and that his task is to do his work and not bother folks any more than he has to. When Ali Baba said, "Blessed is the man who does not bellyache," he had a 16-pronged Elk in mind. An Elk takes his medicine—sometimes with a wry face—but he always takes his medicine. He often overcomes temptation by succumbing to it, and if he trips and falls he is up again and joins in the laugh of the bystanders. You cannot down a man who laughs at himself.

Elks Not Quitters.

The Elks stay right in the game. I never heard of one retiring from business. When death calls for an Elk, the Elk is apt to first sell him a bill of goods and then shake the dice to see who shall pay Charon's toll. The Elk does not seek to pry into the future, for he realizes perfectly well that if he waits he'll know all about it. There seems to be little danger that this fraternity will evolve into a religion. The Elk knows that truth is the point of view; that all is relative; that nothing is final or absolute, nor can it be in a world where nothing is permanent but change. So the Elk's religion is now and here, to partake of all good things in moderation; to give out love and kindness, because these things come back, and to supply a scrap only to the man who repeatedly asks for it and will accept nothing else—this is a matter of accommodation.

To do good is the first prong in an Elk's creed. And he realizes, being wise, that the best way to benefit yourself is to benefit others. As for myself, I am strictly on the hose cart, so I do not affiliate very closely with the boys, but if I were flying light and wanted to borrow ten or maybe twenty, I'd tackle the first Elk I met, without apology or explanation. And my needs to him would be a command, for he is clannish and he knows no higher joy than to give the other fellow a lift. And all these things I have recorded are set down as a matter of truth, forgetting the fact that once at Flint, Michigan, I suffered the deep humiliation of being arrested by the Elks and fined $2.75 for advertising Quaker Oats without a license.

MR. & MRS. W.J.HAIRGROVE OBSERVE THEIR SIXTY-FIRST WEDDING DAY

Children Gather at Family Home on Pine Street to Attend Celebration.

May 28th, 1854, Rev. Elijah Kirkman, a good brother of the Baptist church, then irreverently known as "Hardshell", an appellation not deserved, was called on to perform the ceremony that united for life William J. Hairgrove and Miss Minerva J. Whitlock. They were a comely young pair; she had been born in this county March 9th, 1834 and he May 10th, 1832 in the state of Mississippi in Beauvoir, the birthplace of Jeff Davis whose doctrines the child did not imbibe for in early life he was brought to this county, landing here when sixteen years of age.

The young people went on a farm till the war broke out when the husband enlisted in Co. I, 101st Ill. infantry, and served to the end of the war enduring the hardships to which that command was subjected. He returned to Waverly when discharged and in that vicinity went again to farming and remained on the place till Oct. 1913 when they moved to Jacksonville and took a home near that of their son, William. There they have lived quietly and happily ever since enjoying the fruits of well spent lives and receiving the dutiful attention of their son, nor are they forgotten by the absent ones either.

Thursday night it occurred to their son Elmer who lives in Kansas City, that it would be a pleasant thing to drop in on father and mother yesterday morning, and he did so greatly to their delight. William at once telephoned the remaining brother, Newton, at Virden and the latter and wife at once responded and so with all their living children present they proceeded to enjoy the day most thoroughly. The 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren were not forgotten though it was not practicable for them to be present. One child has died and all the remaining were present and the day was most happily spent.

In the afternoon Mr. Hairgrove walked down town and called on his brother Columbus who is four years his senior and with his son Elmer had a pleasant call.

The day was mainly spent at the home of William but in the afternoon Mrs. Hairgrove went over home and insisted on preparing supper for the entire company and did it to perfection.

Mr. and Mrs. Hairgrove bear well the weight of years and it is the hope of their loved ones that several more anniversaries may be celebrated.

Everything for spring and summer wear; choice selection. Knoles.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEMBERS ENJOY BANQUET AT GRACE

Gathering a Result of Recent Contest Held—Comparison of May, 1914-15.

As the result of the recent Sunday school at Grace M. E. church a banquet was given at the church Friday night and was largely attended. The men provided for the supper and ladies served it. An elaborate menu was served and the meal greatly enjoyed. The invocation was pronounced by Judge M. T. Layman after which the primary department sang "Precious Jewels". Rev. J. W. Miller was introduced as toastmaster and short talks were given by superintendent Charles E. Collins, Mrs. R. S. Nelson, T. V. Hopper, Mrs. F. H. Cogswell, Mrs. R. A. Gates and Arthur G. Cody.

The contest occurred during the eight weeks of March and April. The result was a tie, forty points each; the average attendance during the contest was 410 and the collection was $27.10. The basis of some of the points contested for was upon the average attendance and collection for the month of February which was attendance, 228; collection, $6.40.

As to permanent results the following shows the interest that has been kept up during the month of May this year, in comparison with the month of May, 1914:

1915 attendance and collections.
May2, 354, $10.10.
May 9, 390, $11.46.
May 16, 389, $9.82.
May 23, 375, $11.12.
Average attendance, 377; collections, $10.62.

1914 attendance and collections:
May 2, 254, $5.35.
May 9, 322, $6.36.
May 16, 282, $5.97.
May 23, 267, $5.51.
Average attendance, 281; collections, $5.85.

DEATH RESULTS FROM DRINKING LEWIS LYE

AGED RESIDENT OF MANCHESTER PASSES AWAY FRIDAY MORNING.

Owen McCarty Succumbs to Poison Potion Taken Thursday Afternoon —Was Prominent and Respected Citizen—Ill Health Probable Cause of Act.

One of Manchester's oldest and best respected citizens, Owen McCarty, died Friday morning at seven o'clock from the effects of Lewis Lye, which he had taken internally Thursday afternoon. Death came to him at the home of his daughter-in-law, with whom he had made his place of residence for the last few years.

Mr. McCarty was at the time of his death 86 years of age and a retired farmer. His life had been spent in hard labor in the open on the farm. Years of hard work and the burden of life's journey had rested heavily and during the last few years of his life he had been in ill health. This probably caused despondency and furnished the motive for his act of Thursday afternoon.

He was a man who loved his home and those about him. He was in turn respected and well thought of and liked by all who knew him and loved by intimates and relatives. His wife preceded him in death about ten or twelve years ago.

Five children, four boys and one girl, survive the deceased. They are John, Thomas, Robert and Michael, and Anna, now Mrs. Edward O'Donnell residing near Winchester. The boys all reside in the vicinity in which they were reared.

Mr. McCarty had been a resident of Manchester and vicinity for a great many years. He was a member of no fraternal organizations but was a member of the Baptist church of Manchester.

The arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

Special meeting of Harmony Lodge No. 3, A. F. & A. M. this evening at 7:30 o'clock, for work. Visiting brethren welcome.

RETURN OF "SHERLOCK HOLMES."

Many have read the adventures of Sherlock Holmes. It never occurred that a Sherlock Holmes in embryo was in Jacksonville. This fact has developed in the last few days.

Last week Howard Wannamaker, the rotund and jovial janitor of the court house and also deputy sheriff, went to Chester with Sheriff Graff to deliver some prisoners. Either enroute or on the return trip Mr. Wannamaker got a clue of the whereabouts of Frye who has a more or less noted reputation in Jacksonville. "Sherlock" heard that he was located in Effingham.

After returning home Wannamaker indulged in some heavy deduction. He got out his old black briar pipe and started it going. Wishing further to emulate his illustrious namesake "Chuck" in lieu of a violin secured a French harp. He sat into the long watches of the night blowing great volumes of smoke, playing the harp and gazing into the fire.

After several nights of meditation he went to Sheriff Graff and announced that he had located Frye. The Sheriff furnished the necessary expense money and the court house knew him not for several days. Friday, however, "Sherlock" Wannamaker returned to his usual haunts. His face had a worn expression and his friend, Dr. Watson, knew that he had been unsuccessful. The scent which he followed was a false one. When last seen he was sitting on the front porch of the court house applying his method of deduction and he may disappear at any moment and return with his prey.

REFUSED TO DEBATE WAR; SUSPENDED BY PRINCIPAL

East St. Louis, May 28.—A squabble involving the president of the school board, the principal of a high school, the teachers and the pupils generally, was concluded peaceably when Abe Radman, son of a naturalized Russian, was upheld by the president of the school board for refusing to take the affirmative in a debate of the subject, "Resolved, that Germany was justified in sinking the Lusitania."

Radman, a high school student, had refused to participate in the debate on the ground that it would be a violation of President Wilson's neutrality policy. The principal forbade him to attend classes until he decided to take part in the debate. The elder Radman took the matter up with the schol board and the president of the board today ordered Radman's immediate reinstatement.
